Westbank's Indians Close To Upheaval

Montreal Police Defuse Israeli Consulate Bomb

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal police bomb disposal squad defused a letter bomb today in a city park after removing it from the Israeli consulate where it was discovered by Consul Pinchas Shaanan.

Detective-Sergeant Robert Cote of the anti-terrorist bomb squad said the bomb was transferred to a park about two miles from the McGregor Avenue consulate.

The letter bomb was the first such device discovered in North America since the current spate of mailing explosive devices to Israeli officials began.

An Israeli official was killed in London Tuesday when he opened a similar device. Informal sources said 17 letters containing similar bombs may be in London's postal network.

An Arab guerrilla group—Black September—responsible for the Munich killing of 11 Israeli Olympians, was understood to be at the centre of the British police investigation.

In Geneva, four letter bombs were defused by police Tuesday at the Israeli diplomatic mission. The devices found in London and Geneva were postmarked in Holland as was the letter bomb found here.

Mr. Shaanan said the letter arrived in the mail today and was addressed to him. It bore a Dutch postmark, he said. "It was like one of those that had been sent to London. It contained explosives so we gave it to the police bomb disposal squad and they took it away."

The consul said the letter was a "small regular letter with an airmail sticker on it."

"It was a normal white envelope but it was a little thicker than normal. I realized immediately it must be one of those letters so I gave it to the police."

LONDON TOO

LONDON (CP) — Ingenious letter bombs, similar to the one that killed an Israeli diplomat in his London embassy Tuesday, were mailed to more than a dozen Israeli officials in London, Paris, Geneva and Jerusalem.

Eight letter bombs were discovered in London, two in Paris, three in Geneva and two in Jerusalem, including one addressed to Israeli Transport Minister Shimon Peres. Bomb experts rendered them harmless.

As Israelis called for tighter security against Arab terrorist murders in Europe, gunfire exploded again across the Syrian-Israeli ceasefire lines.

The Israeli military command reported at dawn today that Arab gunners inside Syria opened artillery fire on the occupied Golan Heights, near the border region where Israeli forces invaded South Lebanon on an anti-guerrilla mission during the weekend. There were no casualties, and the Israelis returned the fire, the command said.

ALSO NEW YORK

NEW YORK (Reuter) — A police bomb squad was sent to the central post office building here today to investigate three letters addressed to the Israeli mission to the United Nations.

Postal authorities would not say where the letters had been sent from or why inspectors had called in the bomb squad. The authorities said the letters would be opened by the police to see whether there were explosives inside.

Apathy Towards $50,000 Plan May Split Band Says Chief

The Westbank Indian band is on the verge of complete upheaval.

Chief Noll Derriksan said

Tuesday a special meeting of band members has been called for Friday and at that time the band council will announce its intention to resign and form another band.

Major reason for the break-away move, Chief Derriksan said, is band apathy towards a $50,000 master plan for the development of the Tsinistikeptum reserve.

"It's incredible," the chief said, "to think that this is the only band in B.C. to make a study like this, but when we try and bring it to the members, they just don't seem to be interested in it."

Formation of the new band is permissible under the Indian Act, subject to the approval of the Indian Affairs Department. The present council is comprised of Chief Derriksan, along councillors Millie Jack and Margaret Denison.

The chief said about half the band electorate supports the council's decision to break away and if such a move takes place he said, there will be no physical division between Tsinistikeptum reserves Nine and Ten, but band-owned land, which amounts to about 250 acres on each reserve, would be divided.

Chief Derriksan said: "We're on the verge of doing a lot of things which can't help us be good for the reserve, but right now the whole thing has ground to a halt."

"A lot of people think we're sitting here just for our own good, but it's not true. Up until now, this council has had to make decisions based on its own judgments as to what it thought was best for everybody."

"But now we've reached the point where it's starting to look like a dictatorship and we can't go any further without getting more people involved."

Opposition Occurred Before

Opposition to his leadership on the band council still exists, said the chief, who added it was similar opposition that sparked an investigation by the federal justice department several years ago into the administration of the reserve.

"They showed up with a thick file of complaints and while the investigation was going on, the administration stopped dead for six months. When it was over they didn't even send us a copy of their report, but our administration started up again just the same."

Problems haven't only been caused by band apathy, said Chief Derriksan, a member of the council for nine years, they have also resulted from "constant hassles" with the Indian Affairs department.

Pointing to a copy of the Indian Act, he asked reporters gathered around his small office, "How would you like to live under the conditions set down in that thing?"

"As far as this council is concerned, our whole life here has been spent fighting Ottawa in one way or another—even when it comes to getting answers to correspondence."

"I can remember meetings with the department in Ottawa where I was sitting next to a guy who must have been making $30,000 or $40,000 a year and all he did was run around getting me cups of coffee."

"The way I see it, if you get the whole band behind you, bucking for something, the department can't really turn you down."

Friday's meeting is set for 2 p.m. in the Westbank Indian Church.

Indian Affairs officials expected to be on hand to discuss the issue include Vernon superintendent Dave Hett; economic director for Okanagan-Kootenay, Doug Weir and community affairs specialist Jim Cameron.

Drury Refutes Spy Charges

MONTREAL (CP) — C. M. Drury, acting defence minister, dismissed as an election "gimmick" Tuesday charges by Rene Levesque, leader of the Parti Quebecois, that the army in spying on Quebec labor unions.

"This is part of Mr. Levesque's technique to produce information to see if he can get into a fight with federal authorities," Mr. Drury told a small gathering of Liberal party supporters in his riding of Westmount.

Mr. Drury said all army officers must "quickly acquaint themselves with the environment" whether they are posted in Canada or to any other country.

He was replying to a question about a document released by Mr. Levesque at a news conference Monday, Mr. Levesque said the document, which had several factual errors, was a secret report from Mobile Command of the Canadian Armed Forces.

Mr. Drury said that "each command has a staff to prepare background papers on their area and there are, of course, filed away."

Two Grit Cabinet Ministers Depart From Party's Line

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two Liberal cabinet ministers took the election-campaign spotlight Tuesday as news reports attributed to them statements departing from official government policy.

Meanwhile, party leaders continued their zig-zag travels in quest of votes for the Oct. 30 election.

Prime Minister Trudeau started his day with an enthusiastic reception at Peterborough, Ont., held a question-and-answer session with students in St. Catharines, Ont., and capped the day with a shopping-centre rally in Windsor.

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said a surprise tour of Yellowknife, N.W.T., after freezing rain prevented him from going as planned to Inuvik and Tuktoyaktuk. He pledged a new deal for the North if elected—improved transportation, settlement of native claims and true self-government.

New Democrat Leader David Lewis said during a Regina open-line radio program that Jean Marchand, minister of regional economic expansion, is using federal grants to buy votes in Quebec.

A few hours later, Mr. Marchand announced a $5.3-million grant for a linerboat plant in Cabano, Que. He denied the grant is being made for political reasons.

LEVESQUE ATTACKED

Social Credit Leader René Levesque, leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois, for "trying again to play politics" by claiming the "red forces are spying on Quebec labor unions."

Today Mr. Trudeau visits Toronto and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., while Mr. Stanfield is in Hamilton, Mr. Lewis goes to Winnipeg and Mr. Couette campaigns in Grande Prairie, Alta.

The two cabinet ministers who made headlines Tuesday were Labor Minister Martin O'Connell and Finance Minister John Turner. Mr. Turner later denied the reports of his remarks.

Mr. O'Connell was quoted as having told a Toronto nominating meeting Monday night that government methods of fighting unemployment were "extra painful to employment."

He said wage and price controls would have been a better way to counter inflation, adding that he was not expressing government policy but "announcing my own opinion."

In St. Catharines, Ont., Tuesday night, Prime Minister Trudeau said wage and price controls are not needed and in any case would not be accepted by the public except in an emergency situation like wartime.

Finance Minister Turner was reported as having told reporters at an Ottawa nominating meeting Monday night that food prices are going to increase and there is nothing the government can do about it.

He issued a vehement denial of the reports Tuesday: "I flatly deny that I said anything on or off the record about the trend of future prices in Canada, nor did I say there was nothing the government could do about it."

The Black Hole Of Kampala

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuter) — A Canadian tourist among the first 20 persons released from detention in Kampala's central police station Tuesday night said here they had been crowded into a room "like the black hole of Calcutta."

Fred Romanik, 26, an instrument engineer from Windsor, Ont., told reporters that from the time he was put in the room on Sunday morning until 2:30 p.m. Monday they had been given no food.

Among them, he said, was a pregnant English woman with a baby. They had to sleep on a concrete floor with no blankets, he said.

Mr. Romanik, who went to Uganda to see the Great Murchison Falls, said: "I was picked up on the street by police on Sunday morning and taken to the central police station."

"They said it was only for one day, and when I protested they just ignored me."

Romanik said he was taken to a room about 40 feet by 20 feet lined with cells in which there were about 40 Europeans.

By Monday night there were about 65 people crowded into the small space, said Romanik. He said he saw five British journalists brought in at gunpoint Monday night and lined up against the wall and interrogated. They were then put into the cells.

Later, about 20 people of different nationalities—all non-British including himself—were lined up and a police officer told them: "You can go. We will deal with the British later."

Tory Candidate Decides To Quit

VANCOUVER (CP) — Conservative Walter Davidson Tuesday withdrew as his party's candidate in Burnaby-Seymour for the Oct. 20 federal election, citing "highly pressing personal grounds."

A meeting to nominate someone else will be held Friday, an official said.

Bandits Grab $1,200 In Hold-Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — A machine-gun was used by bandits Tuesday in a $1,200 hold-up at the Edelweiss credit union in east Vancouver. Three men were sought after the robbery.

UN Picks Groups For 'Touchy' Items

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The General Assembly chose a 25-country steering committee today to decide what priority should be given many of the contentious items on its agenda.

The committee, which includes Canada among its members, will sort out the 100-plus items which have been formally proposed for assembly consideration, the committee's task is to decide whether the proposed items should be discussed in one of the assembly's seven major committees, in the main assembly itself—or discussed not at all.

As well as sitting on the steering committee, Canada will be chairman of the second committee, which discusses the UN's economic programs.

The steering committee is scheduled to have three half-day meetings to discuss the proposed agenda.

Among the leading questions the committee will face are Korea, international terrorism, financial disagreements, the Middle East, and environmental matters such as sea rights and pollution.

The session opened Tuesday with the election of Stanislaw Trepczynski, a deputy foreign minister of Poland, as assembly president. Trepczynski delivered an inaugural address that spoke optimistically about some areas of world diplomacy but came down hard on the U.S. role in Indochina.

He referred to Indochina as a place "where blood continues to flow, where innocent people are dying—women and children, whose modest belongings are being destroyed—where the monuments of ancient civilizations are being turned to ruins."

WAS UNJUSTIFIED

Trepczynski, only the second Communist to be elected assembly president, said the Vietnam war "cannot be justified any longer on logical grounds by any stretch of the imagination."

He said the committee's task is to decide whether the proposed items should be discussed in one of the assembly's seven major committees, in the main assembly itself—or discussed not at all.

B.C. Hydro To Be Included In Barrett's Finance Study

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Barrett said Tuesday he has launched a review of government finances which will include the British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority and the Crown-owned B.C. Railway.

He said on his return from a meeting in Regina of the three New Democratic Party premiers and federal leader David Lewis that all of the previous Social Credit government's fiscal policies are in the first stage of a thorough re-examination.

He said he met Monday with deputy finance minister Gerry Bryson for a briefing and will continue the meetings.

"At the present time I'm conducting a review of all the financial policies in this province," said Mr. Barrett.

The new premier, who took office last Friday, said his government is also conducting a review of B.C. Hydro's capital requirements for new power developments.

Resources minister Bob Williams is to release an interim statement Friday on the government's hydro development policy, the premier said, adding that he intended to spend the weekend studying the recent report on B.C.'s power needs by the B.C. Energy Board.

POLICY DISCUSSED

Mr. Barrett said hydro policy was among topics discussed Tuesday in a meeting with Manitoba premier Ed Schreyer and Kim Thorsen, Manitoba minister of industry and commerce.

He said the talks were held at Mr. Williams' request. Health minister Dennis Cocke will attend the Regina conference of provincial health ministers early in October, Mr. Barrett said, with the B.C. minister expected to gather information on how other provinces handle extended and chronic care in hospitals.

The premier also made several remarks on strengthening B.C.'s position in Confederation. "Dennett never deliberately set out to hurt federalism," he said. "In my opinion, it was his style of politics. In B.C., unfortunately, it's always been good politics to kick Ottawa. I just don't feel that's a luxury we can afford any more. I may be wrong politically, I may suffer for that."

NOW POLICEMEN REALLY MIFFED

HONG KONG (Reuter) — Hong Kong's police force, embarrassed by a spate of robberies in the colony in recent weeks, reported Tuesday their clubhouse was broken into during the night and $2,000 in cash and valuables stolen.

MUNICH

Police 'Right' In Vain Bid

BONN (Reuter) — West German police acted correctly in opening fire in a vain bid to rescue nine Israeli hostages kidnapped by Arab guerrillas during the Munich Olympic Games, an official government report said today.

The report said police were compelled to use arms to try to free the Israelis, and fired at the right time, when four of the eight guerrillas were standing targets at Fuerstentempel military airfield.

Five Arabs and one West German policeman died in the exchange of fire, and the nine hostages were shot dead by Arab bullets as they sat captive in two helicopters, the report said.

The 71-page document was drawn up jointly by the Bavarian state government and the federal authorities in Bonn.

The report set out the chronological course of events from the moment the guerrillas burst into the Israeli team quarters in the Munich Olympic Village at about 5 a.m. Sept. 5—killing two other Israelis—until the capture of three surviving Arabs shortly after midnight Sept. 6.

Four Rescued After B.C. Snow Storm

A road grader Tuesday managed to push through heavy snow drifts to a family of four trapped overnight on a mountain 100 miles north of Fort St. John. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones and a son and a daughter were reported safe after spending the night on the mountain.

President Kamuzu Hastings Banda of Malawi said Tuesday in Blantyre he has offered to take in British Asians being expelled from Uganda. The president said that 500 application forms for temporary resident permits have been sent to Uganda as a start.

Two British Columbia residents were killed and six others injured by a snowstorm Tuesday in a head-on collision on Highway 17 near Espanola, Ont., a community 42 miles west of Sudbury. Dead are Cecil Risebrow, 53, and Mary Fairbrother, 58, both of Victoria.

It is perfectly normal for the armed forces to be interested in society's problems, Economic Expansion Minister Jean Marchand said Tuesday in Quebec. Mr. Marchand was answering reporters' questions on a statement by Parti Quebecois leader Rene Levesque that the Canadian Armed Forces has a role in the political activities of the Confederation of National Trade Unions.

The possibility of a special mid-October session of the British Columbia legislature to establish a guaranteed annual income for old age pensioners has drawn cheers from old folks' organizations and general approval from opposition members. Premier Dave Barrett, leader of the New Democratic Party government elected Aug. 30, said in Vancouver the proposed provincial pension supplement "would be a real benefit to the campaign promise of a monthly guaranteed income of a minimum of $200 for each citizen over 65."

A 105-page analysis of Claude Wagner's career as a politician, cabinet minister and judge by Montreal lawyer Claude-Armand Sheppard was launched Tuesday by the Editions du Jour publishing company in Montreal.

PRESIDENT BANDA
... we'll take Asians

Mr. Wagner, Progressive Conservative candidate for St. Hyacinthe in the Oct. 30 federal election, was Quebec justice minister, Liberal member for Verdun in the national assembly, and most recently a sessions court judge.

A storm in the Peace River area forced Real Caouette, national Social Credit party leader, to change his election campaign plans Tuesday. Mr. Caouette stayed in Edmonton because flying conditions near Dawson Creek were too rough for the three-passenger aircraft his organizers had chartered.

Jack Davis, federal fisheries and environment minister, said in Fredericton Tuesday that an announcement would be made soon on a further co-operative agreement between Canada and the United States for developing the St. John River.

A Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. official said Tuesday in Montreal that installation of pollution-control devices on automobiles is a waste of money without provincial legislation making the devices mandatory. William L. Hawley, vice-president and general manager of Ford's sales division, said that in Quebec anyone can have the devices disconnected rather than pay for their upkeep or repair.

A man killed Monday night when his light plane crashed in Stuart Lake near Fort St. John, has been identified as George Davis of Sorrento, B.C. The float plane crashed during a takeoff attempt when it was caught by high winds.

At 100 Mile House George Edward Nelson, 24, of Merritt was sentenced to six months in prison when he was found guilty on a charge of criminal negligence causing bodily harm. The charge was laid after Albert Grace, 17, of Rutland was shot in the back with a .22 calibre rifle at a guest ranch July 12. Nelson was sentenced Monday.

Two charges against the Nanaimo local of the Carpenters' Union which arose out of last summer's province-wide construction strike and lockout were dismissed Tuesday by Provincial Court Judge Jack Caldwell in Nanaimo.

Labor urged a $1 increase in the $1.50 provincial minimum wage Tuesday, but employers' groups strongly opposed anything more than a moderate raise in the first hearing by the British Columbia Industrial Relations Board on the subject. Pat O'Neil, a vice-president of the International Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers' Union, said in Vancouver any increase less than $1 would be an "insult" to working people.

Joseph Boutin, 21, and James O'Brien, 23, held on corner's warrants in connection with the Sept. 1 fire at the Blue Bird Club in Montreal that took 37 lives, arrived Tuesday night from Vancouver. A corner's inquest into the fire resumes today.

The 14-year-old cousin of one of the Israeli Olympic sportsmen killed by Arab guerrillas in Munich two weeks ago was beaten up and had acid thrown in his face at his home in Minsk, Russia, says the newspaper Maariv in Tel Aviv. The paper says Daniel Slavin, cousin of the late Mark Slavin, was injured and sent to hospital but his eyesight was not affected.

William Evans was supposed to be dead, but police in Pittsburgh, Pa., arrested him anyway. Police said Evans parked a rented car on a bridge last week and left a suicide note inside, apparently to throw off detectives who were on his trail. Acting on a tip, police arrested Evans Monday while he was fixing a car tire. He was charged with auto theft, forging auto titles and stealing credit cards and jailed in lieu of $9,000 bail to await a hearing.

The federal government would do well to emulate the former British Columbia Social Credit administration of W. A. C. Bennett, Phil Gaglardi, a member of the Bennett cabinet, said Tuesday. "The country needs direction like never before—dynamic direction—something it hasn't got now," Mr. Gaglardi said at a news conference in Montreal. The former highways minister said the former B.C. government had left $1 billion in assets when it was defeated by the New Democratic Party in provincial elections last month. Mr. Gaglardi also lost his seat in the B.C. legislature to an NDP candidate.

The Montreal council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions adopted a resolution Tuesday urging its 60,000 members to spoil their ballots in the Oct. 30 federal election. Michel Chartrand, president of the council, said in a speech to a general meeting of the council that no federal party favors socialism or Quebec independence, therefore none qualifies for support of the council.

Pindling Wins In Bahamas

NASSAU, Bahamas (CP) — Prime Minister Lynden Pindling's Progressive Liberal party won a clear mandate to take the Bahamas into complete independence in a landslide general election victory Tuesday. The PLP overwhelmed a coalition of dissident members and the old white-dominated United Bahamian party to win at least 27 of 38 seats in Parliament's House of Assembly. The PLP held 21 seats in the old House.

The PLP was leading and expected to win in two other contests while the opposition won seven seats and expected to pick up one more. One contest resulted in a tie and a runoff will be held.

The victory, Pindling said, came as "a clear mandate" to continue with his timetable for complete independence from Britain by July 10, 1973.

The opposition Free National Movement had attempted to promote the independence issue as a drastic, unnecessary step which would ruin the country's economy by scaring away foreign investors.

FORECAST JOB LOSS
Led by opposition leader Cecil Wallace Whitfield, FNM candidates claimed that independence now would create a drop in the Bahamas' chief industry of tourism and lead to a higher unemployment rate.

The voters didn't agree. Incomplete returns were not reported from three of the 18 "out island" constituencies. But an unofficial vote count without them showed the PLP received more than 29,000 out of about 48,500 votes. An estimated 85 per cent of the 57,051 registered voters cast ballots. The total population is about 188,000, some 85 per cent of it black.

Pindling has announced that conferences with British officials on full independence will begin in December and that there is no British opposition to his independence timetable.

The Bahamas would remain a member of the Commonwealth of Nations.

The 700-island chain received internal self-government in 1964. Britain currently retains control only over foreign affairs and defence.

Pindling has announced that Parliament will be convened Oct. 18.

At dissolution, the PLP held 21 seats, the FNM 15, the Commonwealth Labor party 1 and an independent 1.

Amin Claims Invaders Had Planned Massacres

KAMPALA (Reuter) — Uganda has claimed victory over an invading force that thrust into the southwest from Tanzania with the aim, authorities said, of seizing power from President Idi Amin with a series of planned massacres.

A Uganda military spokesman said Tuesday 300 of the invading force, whose strength was put at around 1,500, had been killed and 50 captured.

Civilian casualties were estimated at 150, including a white teacher, not yet identified, who was killed in fighting at Mbarara, 160 miles west of Kampala.

In Nairobi, the U.S. embassy reported an American Peace Corps worker, Louis Morton, was shot dead and another, Robert Freed, wounded when they were by chance caught up in Sunday's fighting in the southwest region. The two were driving in the area but lacking a car radio were unaware of the situation.

The Uganda military spokesman said the invaders were "completely dispersed and scattered" in the area around Masaka, 80 miles west of Kampala.

The Ugandan border village of Mutukula, last of the six towns occupied by the invasion force, was recaptured on Monday night, the spokesman said.

The invaders, claimed to be made up of anti-Amin guerrillas and Tanzanian soldiers, had planned series of killings if the insurgents had succeeded in seizing power, the spokesman said.

He said that on the death list were President Amin, all members of the Uganda cabinet and all people in key positions in government service, along with members of the armed forces who came from the Buganda, West Nile, Karamoja and the Teso districts of Uganda.

In some of these districts the rebels had planned massacres of the whole civil population, the spokesman said.

Early today it was announced that villagers in the border area, armed with axes and long knives, had killed 29 guerrillas and were helping regular army forces hunt down the rest.

PEOPLE DETAINED
Numbers of Europeans, Asians and Africans are being detained in Uganda, as well as nine Americans, including Associated Press correspondent Andrew Torchia.

Six British journalists were expelled early today.

When the six flew into London they declined to talk about Americans and West Europeans held in Kampala.

Donald Wise, correspondent of the Daily Mirror, said he had been jailed for 30 hours.

"I cannot say anything more," he said. "There are still about 40 British people being held, including seven journalists."

The other arrivals included Keith Graves of the British Broadcasting Corp.

"We have agreed not to say anything because there are still a number of other people, including children, being detained," Graves said.

A BBC spokesman said Amin had accused the BBC of "spreading false information on the situation in Uganda."

Canada Has 'Responsibility' To Take Few Thousand Asians

VANCOUVER (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp defended Canada's decision to accept Asians who are being expelled from Uganda but said Tuesday Canada will take only "a few thousand at the most."

Mr. Sharp, in a day of election campaigning in the Vancouver area, spoke several times on the Ugandan question. He denied news reports that Canada will accept "unlimited" numbers of the Asian refugees.

He told a news conference in New Westminster that "I am sure it would have defeated us in an election" if the government had refused to accept any of the Asians.

"We have a responsibility to share our good fortune," he said in another statement on the Ugandan question, this time in a speech at which he launched the New Westminster area United Good Neighbor Fund campaign.

Then, at a news conference, he said President Amin had acted "foolishly" in saying Uganda had to get rid of the Asians on grounds they were controlling the country.

Canada's acceptance of some of the approximately 50,000 Asians, said Mr. Sharp, would be of great benefit to Canada, because most of them were skilled professional or commercial people.

"Here is an opportunity to get some we won't get many, but we will get some—people who are talented and vigorous, the type who made his country great."

Later, in a question-answer session with a student audience of about 175 at Richmond high school, Mr. Sharp was asked how many Ugandans would be allowed entry to Canada.

"It would be a few thousand at the most," he replied. This would have no effect on employment in Canada, with a work force of eight to nine million.

After Mr. Sharp had noted that the Asian Ugandans are all British citizens, a student asked, "Why not let the British have the unemployment problem?"

Mr. Sharp said he didn't think the issue should be looked at that way.

"If the rest of the world closed its doors," he said, "they would all go to Britain. But I don't think Canadians want to close our doors."

He insisted that the Ugandans will not take jobs away from Canadians and will not be unemployed, either.

He said it is a "myth" that immigration creates unemployment.

In an interview, Mr. Sharp said reports had been published in Eastern Canada to the effect that the government would permit "unlimited" entry of Ugandans.

"We have not decided to take an unlimited number," he said. "FIGURE IMPRECISE"

He agreed that the figure 5,000 had been "mentioned" by someone in Ottawa, but said this still is imprecise.

"It is very early," he said. "We haven't decided on any definite limit, we have certainly not decided on any unlimited numbers."

First of all, we have to have better information as to how many people are interested in coming to Canada.

increased portion of the Special Drawing Rights or so-called paper gold distributed as additions to reserves under the International Monetary Fund.

Plumtree concludes that whatever the aid and its method of allocation, the subject is likely to be discussed and negotiated by the new Committee of 20 countries in which the voices of the developing regions are added to the old Group of Ten ruled by the major currency powers.

The developing countries, says Plumtree, do not wish to see the Committee of 20 and its deputies dominated by the monetary fund "establishment."

"They should have a life of their own if they are to make recommendations based on an independent review of the world monetary system and related matters," he says. "This appears to be the wish of the developing countries concerned and they will, no doubt, be on the alert to ensure that their wishes are carried out."

He says also that it has been suggested that if Pierre-Paul Schweitzer of France steps down as monetary fund managing director—as has been widely predicted—then the chairman of the Committee of 20 deputies "might well be considered as a strong contender for that office."

Plumtree suggests the Committee of 20 may take two years to work out detailed proposals on monetary changes. The first year might be devoted to broad discussions on general issues with precise proposals emerging in 1973-74.

Plumtree, who was commissioned by the Commonwealth secretariat to prepare his study for the finance ministers, suggests that an enlarged flow of financial aid to developing countries may relieve defects in the existing system.

This increased aid might be accomplished by allocating to the developing countries an in-

SAD CONCEPT

Willard E. Ireland, provincial archivist and librarian, said at a Notary banquet Tuesday most people have a "sad concept" of history, largely because of the way the subject is presented in school.

History is people, he said, and choose four human characteristics, courage, enterprise, labor and justice, to illustrate a somewhat humorous account of pioneer life.

Local CNIB's Club Benefits From Chest

The Central Okanagan Community Chest and United Way campaign is off and running for another year, with the commercial-industrial portion of the drive under way today and the residential blitz set for Oct. 2 and 3.

The group, which should have a membership of between 20 and 30, will operate in addition to the White Cane Club, active in the area for a number of years. They will participate in such activities as cribbage, blind bowling, cards, square dancing and music concerts during regular Wednesday meetings in St. Joseph's Hall.

Support Urged For Light-Up

The downtown Christmas Light-Up will be held Nov. 20 this year as Downtown Businessmen's Association members hustle to pay for it.

Under a working arrangement with the city and the company supplying the lights, the DBA pays $2,500 each year, matched by the city, to add to the lighting display initiated last year.

The arrangement with the company gives the city "a good deal" on lights over a five-year program, but the DBA was told Tuesday it is about $4,000 in the red and there must be more support for the organization by downtown merchants.

Retiring treasurer Merv Loper said he was "appalled at the apathy" of some and promised he would become more vocal in soliciting further support now that he is no longer on the executive. There are only 47 members out of 225 downtown businesses.

A Santa Claus parade is also planned this year along with a raffle.

Winners of the Light-Up contest last year were announced Tuesday and include Lights Travel Service Ltd., Dycel's Pharmacists and the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Mr. Ireland said "erosion" was taking place in human attitudes, but added the antidote — change — is coming, as people look to the past for experience, and note the characteristics of the pioneers who laid the foundations from which modern man can begin to build something properly.

Post Office Site Still Being Eyed As Civic Center

There is still a chance a sort of self-sustaining downtown community centre can be booted by Kelowna on the site of the old post office.

Nearly 40 members of the Kelowna Downtown Businessmen's Association (DBA) were told Tuesday efforts are still being made to have the federal Department of Public Works to look up on a scheme for the site, which would benefit the community as a whole.

The department had earlier advertised for tenders from developers interested in the site, DBA director Pat Currell said he believed there was a fair response to the advertisement but that all bids were from outside the Okanagan and all indicated ignorance of present lease and rental structures in downtown Kelowna.

He said the department has been asked to extend its deadline so the DBA can make a firm presentation and there are indications the request will be recognized. He said he would be contacting MP Bruce Howard today.

Development of the site along community lines was the brainchild of Basil Meikle and the DBA executive. Mr. Meikle, killed this summer in a boating accident, was president of the group up until this year.

Mr. Currell told members many of Mr. Meikle's proposals were still tentative at the time of his death and the executive had not yet decided on a firm plan of action. However, the director said he and another businessman, William Gaddes, had worked closely with the former president and hoped to be able to pick up where he left off.

Tentatively envisioned is a new building on the site which would be landscaped in a park-like setting. The first floor would be available for commercial lease with a second floor to house administrative offices for community groups plus a board room and possible display area.

Groups such as the DBA, the Chamber of Commerce, the Regatta Association and the Community Chest were among those suggested. Mr. Currell said the federal department appeared "quite interested".

And he said he and Mr. Gaddes had met with Mayor Milner both "and he appeared in favor of the principle".

To initiate such a project, an area, the downtown core area, would be designed as a special tax area by the city which would arrange the financing for the project, repayable through the temporary tax levy of that particular area.

On a self-sustaining basis, through commercial lease and possibly nominal rent for the community-oriented facilities, the downtown area would be paid back the tax levy.

Mr. Currell said that there are many details still to be worked out and the DBA must have the support of the city which, in fact, must initiate the move. But he expressed optimism and found enthusiasm from within the membership.

John Dyck, prominent downtown businessman, said there could not be a more fitting project for the DBA and the city. "I think the basic idea is good and could produce one of our finest facilities downtown."

Mr. Herbert explained that instructions had gone out for the work, "and it should be finished soon."

The other matter raised by Ald. Stewart concerned completion of the new control tower at Kelowna Airport, progress of which was delayed by the lock-out situation in the B.C. construction industry last spring.

City finance director Harold Hall said the tower will be finished "within the next few weeks" and that the only work which remains is the installation of several pieces of equipment.

At its 15th annual convention here Tuesday, the B.C. Society of Notaries Public passed several resolutions aimed at enhancing the professional image of its members.

The more than 200 delegates on hand for the four-day gathering decided to ask the government to raise the ceiling of the society's special indemnity fund to $150,000 from its present $100,000.

Purpose of the fund is to reimburse any client who loses money to a notary public through misappropriation or wrongful conversion of funds. The B.C. Notaries Act sets the maximum reimbursement at $5,000 in any one case and the society would like to see that figure raised to $10,000.

In addition, the society will seek to make it mandatory for all notaries to carry liability insurance, similar to that now carried by members of the legal profession. Such a move would also require government approval.

The convention also passed a resolution which will require all society members to be bonded. Earlier, delegates re-elected president William Brendon, of Vancouver, to another term and elected John Reed, of Abbotsford, as vice-president.

Peter Tony Mushta of Kelowna pleaded not guilty to charges of hit and run and driving while under suspension. Both cases were remanded for trial to Nov. 17.

Kenneth Frank Feist of Rutland pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana. Judge R. J. S. Moir ordered a pre-sentence report and remanded the case to Sept. 29.

Michael Phillip Balletto of Kelowna was charged in provincial court with causing a disturbance by swearing. The case was remanded without plea to Sept. 27.

Ralph Smith of Summerland appeared in provincial court charged with driving while having a blood alcohol count exceeding .08. The case was remanded without plea to Sept. 25.

Lawrence Thomas Flynn of Oyma pleaded guilty to four counts of theft under $200 in provincial court and Judge Moir remanded the case to Sept. 29 for a pre-sentence report.

Registration for all Brownie and Guide packs in district one, and for Second Kelowna Cubs and Scouts will begin Wednesday. Brownie and Guide packs will take place in St. David's Presbyterian hall at 7:30 p.m. for parents only. Two Brownie leaders are also needed. Cubs and Scouts, parents only, will meet in the Centennial Hall at 7 p.m.

Level of Okanagan Lake Monday was recorded at 100.85. The agreed maximum for the lake is 102.50, while the agreed minimum is 98.5.

The first day of the fall elk hunting season netted a Vernon man a four point elk south of the Okanagan Mission area. Elk hunting in this area is usually fruitless but John Kobuz of Vernon could find ways to argue the point as he takes home proof it isn't always so.

... Dismal

The weatherman remains dismal in forecasting Thursday's weather. He promises mostly cloudy periods with a few afternoon and evening showers. Highs will be near 60 degrees. High and low in the city Tuesday was 60 and 47 degrees with no precipitation, compared to 60 and 42 degrees with .05 inches of precipitation. Overnight lows today will be in the lower 40s.

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. RE-RUN

Dynamite Blast Rips Courthouse

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — A dynamite blast ripped a huge hole in the courthouse of this town of 3,500 on the south shore of Great Slave Lake Tuesday night. The one-storey frame building apparently was unoccupied at the time and there were no reports of injuries. There was no fire after the explosion. It was the second such explosion in about two years in the town, 500 miles north of Edmonton, where the Great Slave Lake Railway terminates. In the previous incident, an office building used by the United States Air Force was dynamited. A hole big enough to drive a car through was punched in the southwest corner of the building, which measures approximately 40 by 40 feet. The roof of the damaged section caved in. Debris was scattered about the area.

FLQ MENTIONED

Police were investigating a report that just before the blast at 9 p.m. MDT a man went into the Hay River Hotel and said something about the FLQ blowing up the courthouse. The damaged building is in the downtown harbor area of the town. The Hay River Hotel, the central feature of that area, is separated from the courthouse by a road allowance which goes down to the river. On the other side of the courthouse is a contractor's yard with some supply sheds. The charge was placed against the back of the building, which faces the Mackenzie Highway. Most heavily damaged was the courtroom. Less seriously damaged or not affected were the lobby, barrister's room, judge's chambers and furnace.

The building had been a liquor store until three years ago. A magistrate comes to the town once a month and one had held hearings in the courtroom Friday afternoon.

The previous explosion occurred across the street, about half a block away.

There are two explosives companies in Hay River that supply mining, roadbuilding and other crews in the north. Barge traffic for the Mackenzie River originates here.

TRADITIONAL TASTE

LONDON (CP) — Britons will continue to eat their traditional cooked breakfasts after joining the European Common Market, public-opinion experts say. Porridge, bacon and eggs and toast are in no danger of giving way to the continental coffee and rolls, says their report compiled by a marketing journal, Mintel. The survey was based on the opinions of 1,000 housewives.

PHONE FORECAST

BIRMINGHAM, England (CP) — A dial-the-future telephone service has been opened by the post office to give callers horoscope details. Astrologer Maurice Woodruff will record daily horoscope messages, including birthday forecasts, to provide callers with a two-minute briefing. Woodruff hoped the service would be of great help to those "who rush into things impulsively."

Washington Orders Probe On Soviet Wheat Sale Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two full-scale investigations—one before the Nov. 7 general election, one afterward—have been promised in the escalating dispute over wheat sales to the Soviet Union.

The pre-election investigation by the FBI was announced by Vice-President Spiro Agnew while campaigning Tuesday in Minneapolis. In fact, he said, "that investigation is in progress" at President Nixon's orders. But the FBI said it had received no instructions to look into the matter. A spokesman for its parent agency, the justice department, Tuesday night would say only that "a preliminary review of the matter referred to by Vice-President Agnew is under way."

An Iowa Democrat, Representative Neal Smith, promised a House of Representatives investigation of the wheat deal next February "after the passion of election-year politics has passed." Smith heads a subcommittee on small business.

At a Minneapolis news conference, Agnew said that Nixon ordered the FBI to check whether major grain exporters received, and profited, from advance sales information allegedly fed to them by officials and former officials of the agriculture department.

Although wheat sales to Russia are considered a boon for U.S. farmers, critics now question whether some farmers were paid prices kept artificially low in order that exporters might reap larger profits.

The farm price of wheat rose in late July and August after the size of the sale became known.

Total purchases of U.S. wheat by the Soviet Union are estimated at 400 million bushels over a three-year period.

Another House subcommittee completed its investigation Tuesday into allegations that the agriculture department engaged in what Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern has called a "conspiracy of silence" by not disclosing full details of Soviet wheat purchases this summer.

A central figure, Clarence Palmy of Continental Grain Co., New York, labelled as an "outright lie" contents that he carried along government secrets when he left the department June 7 to join the firm as vice-president.

As an assistant agriculture secretary, Palmy took part in trade talks in Moscow last April concerning possible grain sales to the Russians. But Palmy said nothing was settled at that time. Palmy denied he had any advance knowledge of a White House credit arrangement with the Soviet Union. The president announced the arrangement June 8, a month after Palmy joined the firm.

But Palmy said Continental, acting on its own, closed a cash deal for 183 million bushels of wheat with the Russians in early July, most of it several days before the White House announcement. Contract price was in the area of $1.63 to $1.65 a bushel, he said, but he declined to say what the company paid for early harvest wheat.

"The buying mission had nothing to do with credit," Palmy said. "They were here to buy grain."

Arts Council Announces List Of Grant Recipients For '72

Kelowna and District Arts Council (KADAC) disbursed $2,049 in grants last year to assist individuals and groups in various areas of the arts, it was learned at the council's executive meeting.

Those receiving the grants were Kelowna division of Canadian Authors Association, for the advancement of writing in the Kelowna area; Rory O'Donnell, for advancement in flute studies; and Kelowna branch of Okanagan Valley Music Festival Association, to provide funds for scholarships.

Other organizations receiving grants were The Kelowna Graphics, a creative writing group sponsored by Adult Education department in Kelowna, to publish a small book based on the combined efforts of various writers; Summer Travelling Workshops to seven young artists assisted in attending School of Fine Arts and Artisan Youth Music Camp; KADAC annual "Art in the Park" program; Festival Players Orchestra, to provide conductor with honorarium and purchase sheet music; and Kelowna Art Exhibit Society, to bring in travelling art exhibits, children's print library, local "Palette club" and "Award 23" competition in schools.

The KADAC sponsored project, Art in the Park, received response from 115 youngsters in the six-to-12 age group. The young people received instruction in open air classes. Art material was supplied for them.

Discussion centered on plans for the Arts and Crafts Fair to be held Nov. 12 to 19 in Orchard Park Mall. Weaving, woodcarving, painting and pottery were some of the arts exhibited in the fair last year. At the fair, the public may view and buy the work of local artists.

Victoria Press Has A Contract

VICTORIA (CP) — The Victoria Newspaper Council of Unions, representing 340 members in five unions, has ratified a new contract agreement with Victoria Press Ltd., which publishes the morning Daily Colonist and the evening Victoria Times.

Under the new contract, the Victoria local of the newspaper guild will receive a basic wage increase of $1.07 an hour in a 21-month contract.

The members of the other four unions—local of the International Typographical Union, the Printing, Pressman and Assistants Union, the Stereotypers and Electrotypers unions, and the Malters union—will receive a wage increase of $1.07 per hour in a 23-month contract.

The agreement, which includes adjustments in a number of classifications, also provides for a study of pensions for members of all the five unions by an outside consultant and improvements in vacation benefits.

Advance notice in the use of new equipment and new processes, on-the-job training, and better overtime pay schedules are also included in the new agreement.

ELLISON NOTES

ELLISON (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kahn of Williams Lake spent a few days visiting relatives in the Ellison and Rutland districts last week. Mrs. Kahn is the former Mary Ellen Piddocke.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Teghtmeyer and their twin daughters of Calgary were recent visitors to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Geen, Anderson Road.

Mr. and Mrs. John Money of Sarnia Island, B.C., left on Tuesday morning after spending a short holiday visiting Mr. Money's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gray.

Westbank Students Set School Record

George Pringle Secondary School regular examinations for June, 1972, show percentage passes in all Grade 12 subjects in a range of 83.2 per cent to 93.8 per cent, the highest on record for the school.

The school announced the award winners in English. Louise Hrischuk received $100 from Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Three recent Grade 12 graduates won $100 each in the British Columbia Department of Travel Industry competition held in June. They are Aven Winfield, Betty Janse and Wanda Saunby.

Those students writing Grade 12 scholarships in June and winning remission fees were Aven Wakefield (91.5 per cent) three-quarter remission of fees at Okanagan College; Gary Brookfield (88.5 per cent) quarter remission of fees at UBC; William Huva (80 per cent) three-quarter remission of fees at UBC and a $100 bursary at UBC; Randy, Tessa (89.5 per cent) one-half remission of fees at Okanagan College and Clifford Addison (74 per cent) one-half remission of fees at UBC. Monte Crouch received a $100 bursary at UBC.

The 1972-73 term is now under way with present enrolment up 94 from the previous term at 588, with 28 teachers, up four from the previous term.

Two portables have been brought in to relieve overcrowding and the Board of School District 23, Central Okanagan is presently planning more additions to be presented to the public in a referendum December.

Oyama Legion Opens Season With New Social Planning

OYAMA (Special) — The monthly general meeting of Branch No. 189, Royal Canadian Legion, was held in the club rooms on Sept. 13. President A. T. Kobayashi called the meeting to order at 8:05 p.m. with 17 ordinary members and two honorary members in attendance.

Charles F. Healy was accepted as an ordinary member. The transfer of A. D. Lingenfelter was also accepted.

The entertainment committee reported that a social will be held on Sept. 29. Arrangements were started on an LA supper for which help will be needed.

William Raistrick, reporting on the zone meeting held at Gardom Lake on Sept. 10, stated that the Legion Provincial Curling Bouspiel will be held in Merritt during the last week in February. The next zone meeting will be held in Kelowna on Dec. 10.

DANCE PLANNED

RUTLAND (Special) — Rutland's active young Teen Town group has a big event lined up for the coming weekend. They have a dance scheduled for the Centennial Hall on Friday the 22nd from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The music is to be supplied by the Brandywine Band from Vancouver.

Two Areas Closed To Goat Hunters

Summer surveys indicating high winter mortality have prompted the closure of the hunting season on mountain goat and caribou in two areas of north-central British Columbia.

Dr. James Hatter, director, Fish and Wildlife Branch, announced today that the areas, designated as the McBride and the Smithers closures, will be closed to the hunting of goat and caribou effective midnight Sept. 20, 1972. These two areas are portions of Management Areas 25 and 20 respectively and exact boundary descriptions are available from Fish and Wildlife Branch offices in these regions.

Rutland Hall Kept Busy

RUTLAND (Special) — The community is making full use of the Centennial Hall these days, and nights. Tomorrow the Lions hold their dinner meeting, the Knights of Columbus have a Bingo on Sept. 26. The Kelowna Softball Association will hold their annual dance on Sept. 23. On Sept. 30 the Circle K will hold a square dance. The two smaller rooms, the Murray room and the Dillman room are busy also, with a Lions dinner meeting on Sept. 21, Anglican Sunday School service on Sunday morning and a Chamber of Commerce meeting on Sept. 25, all in the Dillman room.

In the Murray room the Kindergarten Association meets on the evening of Sept. 25. The Parks Board meets in the evening of Sept. 26. The Kinsmen have the room booked for a dinner meeting on Sept. 28.

Soccer Teams Start Season

RUTLAND (Special) — Junior football teams are active once more as the "soccer" season opens. A Rutland Juvenile Soccer Association fosters the local interest in the game, and has presented uniforms to an unsponsored team.

The Shoppers' Village team went down to defeat when the Rangers won the first game 5-0 on Saturday last. The Taste Freeze team has only been defeated once this season and won their game. Both goals were scored by Craig Bakala. The Kelowna Kickers won their game against the Rutland A.C.T., the final score being 4-3.

The executive of the Juvenile Soccer Association appreciate the many sponsors who have given their support to the teams. All teams are now completely outfitted. They are to be turned in at the end of the season.

Pilot's Error Proved Fatal

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)

A coroner's jury ruled Monday that the death of stunt pilot Patrick Louis Johnston, 39, of Red Deer, Alta. was due to a "definite lack of judgment" on Johnston's part.

Johnston was making loops over the end of the runway at the Prince George Air Show Aug. 5 when his single-engine plane crashed. He died later in hospital.

Pathologist Dr. Richard Louie told the inquest that Johnston had a blood-alcohol reading of .11 per cent.

The jury ruled the death unnatural and attached no blame. The ruling said the alcohol level would have contributed to a "lack of specific judgement as required by a person performing this type of aerobatic manoeuvre."

Department of Transport Inspector Bert Van Den Han, who monitored the air show, said Johnston made one extremely low loop, starting the manoeuvre at 700 feet when it is usually started at 1,000 feet.

Stolen Paintings Found In Italy

CONEGLIANO, Italy (Reuter) — Police have recovered 13 paintings stolen from the parish church of Pieve di Cadore north of here more than a year ago. Two men were arrested Tuesday in connection with the theft when they tried to sell the paintings and were lured to a deserted farm by police.

PUBLIC NOTICE

As part of the Kalamalka-Wood Lake Basin Study undertaken by the Water Investigations Branch of the Water Resources Service, B.C. Research will be carrying out dye tracer studies during September and October, 1972, in Ellison, Wood and Kalamalka Lakes.

The purpose of these studies is to follow the gross movement of water into the lakes, to monitor the dilution rate and also the time required for this dye to leave the lakes through their outlets.

The tracer to be used in the studies is Rhodamine WT, a fluorescent red dye. This material is not expected to be visible except in the immediate vicinity of the injection point. It is not harmful to living organisms in the concentrations that will be used.

Illichmann's Delicatessen Moves To New Premises

Kelowna resident's taste buds will be treated to some delightful food at the grand opening of Illichmann's Delicatessen. Although the store has been in Kelowna for five years, it has now moved to a new, spacious, 2,720 square foot location, on Glenmore Street.

There are eight staff members to provide service to customers. Adolf Illichmann, who's father was in the same business, and Otto Leinemann, partner, and once in charge of the meat department in the Russian pavilion at Expo 67, provide all the experience they have to offer for their customers.

The equipment used in preparing the many different meats and 42 delicious variety of sausages is the most modern the Vost Co. has to offer, and all was imported from Germany. The smoke house can cure, smoke, cook and shower, while a special oven can cook, bake and broil. It is the first store in Canada to have a completely automatic smoke house.

CATERING
The delicatessen is also able to provide catering service. Besides fresh meat and sausages, the store offers a varied choice of cheeses and chocolates, from all over Europe.

The recipes for the varied sausages are old family ones, but Mr. Illichmann believes in adjusting for his customers' likes. The sausages are made on the premises, and come from the smoke house to the display counters, ensuring freshness.

The premises is done on the outside in a Mediterranean type design, and the inside after delicatessens back in the old country. Although there is room for parking out front, more room is provided in the back. Inside, the aisles are wide and roomy, providing needed space for viewing the many items on display.

The business will keep regular store hours, Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Besides food, the store includes a magazine rack, with material from the European countries in different languages, records and some odds and ends in cookery.

Mr. Illichmann is married and has three school-aged children. His wife, Theresia, looks after the front end of the store, while he works in the back with Mr. Leinemann. His children are Judy, 13, Thomas, 11 and Robert, 5 years.

Gardener Now Aims To Be MP

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Rene Benoit, a 67-year-old Dundas County market gardener, said Tuesday he has filed nomination papers to run in the Oct. 30 federal election as a Democrat.

Mr. Benoit, who polled 239 of 18,099 votes in the provincial riding of Grenville-Dundas in the last Ontario election, said he is not an independent because he represents many farmers who are fed up with the old political machines.

He also was New Democratic Party candidate in the same riding for the 1968 provincial election.

Stormont-Dundas was represented in the last Parliament by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux, who ran as an Independent and now is running for re-election under the same label.

The only other candidate in the race so far is Conservative Grant Campbell, although the NDP are to hold a nominating meeting tonight.

Army 'Establishment' Spectre Raised By 2 U.S. Military Men

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Two top military leaders have raised the spectre of a U.S. military establishment that cannot be controlled either by its uniformed commanders or by the civilian establishment.

The two, the U.S. Air Force chief of staff, Gen. John Ryan, and the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, Admiral Thomas Moorer, have admitted to the Senate armed services committee that they cannot guarantee there will be no more unauthorized bombings of North Vietnam.

The admissions that the defence hierarchy does not have total control over the Indochina air war have come during a Senate committee investigation of aid over North Vietnam that were conducted during an official bombing halt. Falsified military reports described them as "protective reaction" strikes rather than outright raids.

The raids last winter were ordered by Gen. John Lavelle, former commanding officer of air force units in Vietnam. He was relieved of his post in March for allowing the raids to take place and was demoted. But he was allowed to retire on a tax-free pension of about $25,000 a year.

Gen. Ryan has defended his decision to punish only Gen. Lavelle for the unauthorized raids, but told the Senate investigators Monday that he could not guarantee such incidents would not happen again.

No Parole For Murderers Except In Few Cases-Lewis

WINNIPEG (CP) — Convicted murderers sentenced to life imprisonment should in many cases not be granted parole, New Democratic Party Leader David Lewis said.

Mr. Lewis told a caller on an on-line radio program, aired shortly after his arrival here from a day of election campaigning in Regina, that he and his party are against capital punishment.

"It doesn't assist in getting rid of crime and murder," he said. "There are other ways of dealing with criminals than state killings."

Murderers ought to get life imprisonment, "and they should not be released on parole in many cases."

The chance of a sex offender repeating his crime, for instance, was "very great."

BACK REHABILITATION
Furthermore, said Mr. Lewis, a lawyer, he would make certain that those released on parole were put through a proper "psychiatric rehabilitation."

Canada is at present experimenting with a system under which capital punishment is reserved for those who kill prison guards or policemen.

The NDP leader was closely questioned about his party's chances in the Oct. 30 election. Asked by John Harvard, moderator of the program on CKY, how the NDP could be a contender when it had little hope of winning seats in Quebec, Mr. Lewis replied testily:

"Don't be so belligerent about it."

"We expect to get votes from the Canadian public."

At another point, Mr. Lewis said: "There will be many more New Democrats in the next Parliament."

THERE'S FAT TO CUT
Mr. Lewis said there is "a great deal of fat" in the government services that can be cut out. He held that the hundred million dollars or so spent annually on Canada's role in North American air defence, and 63 million dollars spent on federal information services, were a waste.

However, he carefully avoided making any commitment to reduce over-all government spending should his party gain power. Particularly, he disavowed any intention to cut back on present social welfare programs, such as old age pensions and medical care.

Mr. Lewis said an NDP federal government would not increase senior citizens' pension to a minimum $200 a month, as the NDP government of British Columbia proposes to do provincially. He thought the basic pension should be $150 nationally, which the provinces could supplement if they wished.

A slight swaying of the deck provided an authentic atmosphere for the 75 women attending the noon luncheon aboard the Fintry Queen.

Most of the guests were from out-of-town points in the province here with their spouses for the 15th annual convention of The Society of Notaries.

Public of British Columbia. Front row, left to right, Mrs. John Reed, Abbotsford; Mrs. William E. Brendon, Vancouver; and Mrs. Vernon Har-greaves, also of Vancouver. Back row, Mrs. Ken Shepherd, Mrs. Al Saloum, Mrs. William Baker and Mrs. R. G. Whillis, all of Kelowna.

Kelowna Committee Receives Praise For Okanagan Flavored Hospitality

"The biggest and best ever" was the consensus of opinion among the 76 women attending the 15th annual convention of The Society of Notaries Public of British Columbia hosted in Kelowna. This was apparently the first time the annual conference was held outside of the cities of Vancouver and Victoria. For many women it was also the first time they had visited Kelowna and they loved it and had nothing but praise for the local arrangements.

Registration of the 214 persons at the three day meeting which started at Capri on Sunday included members and their wives from all parts of the province.

Among out-of-town members were: President William E. Brendon and Mrs. Brendon of Vancouver; vice-president John Reed and Mrs. Reed also of Vancouver; secretary, Dr. Bernard W. Hoeter, also of Vancouver.

Directors and their spouses in attendance were: Roy Bishop and Mrs. Bishop, Vernon Hargreaves and Mrs. Hargreaves, Charles Lewis and Mrs. Lewis, all of Vancouver; Herbert Evans of Nanaimo; John Haddy and Mrs. Haddy of Burnaby; Denis G. J. Humphries and Mrs. Humphries of Victoria; John Jeffery and Mrs. Jeffery of Langley; Mrs. Lois Lambert and Mr. Lambert, Nelson; Gordon Loutet and Mrs. Loutet of Lake Cowichan; Kenneth Luttrell and Mrs. Luttrell of Prince George; Donald McCorquodale and Mrs. McCorquodale of Vancouver; and James L. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson of Coquitlam.

Directors from Kelowna were William M. Baker and Mrs. Baker and convention committee included in addition to Mr. Baker, Ken Shepherd, Al Saloum, James Robinson, Jim guests with their musical talents.

Sunday, a golf tournament started off the meeting with E. P. West of Haney winning the prize for the longest drive. The president's reception at the Capri completed the Sunday agenda.

Tuesday the ladies enjoyed a novel experience for some, luncheon on the Fintry Queen and the fresh breeze whipped up enough waves to make it realistic without too much motion.

The ladies joined the men for the windup banquet Tuesday evening. Previously they had enjoyed a mixed luncheon at noon Monday.

NOTARY WIVES

Among a number of wives who attended business sessions and seminars was Mrs. Eric Turner of Vanderhoof, who was most enthusiastic about her first visit to Kelowna. Mrs. Turner works in her husband's office and is keenly involved in the work.

Although Mrs. G. Brendon does not work in her husband's office now, she did work in the notary part of his insurance and real estate business and is quite familiar with the process. She was elated with the hospitality shown here and the shopping facilities — even though she came from Vancouver.

Mrs. J. B. Haddy of South Burnaby loves it here and is considering retirement here someday. Another wife who used to work in her husband's office, says she always reserves a half hour for hubby to unwind and discuss events with her when he arrives home from the office.

Mrs. E. P. West of Haney noticed considerable changes in Kelowna since her last visit here. She recalled that her first school in her teaching career was at Beaverdell and she visited with friends in Kelowna often. Since that she has pursued a career in education which included 13 years on the staff at the university and since 'retirement' from that centre, she has been involved in a special program for girls and women in connection with the Minimum Security Prison. Her Notary husband does not talk shop with her, instead he considers his home a sanctuary where pursuits range from golf to cribbage, bridge and chess.

Leaders Wanted By Guides

Brownies of 1st and 2nd Raymer packs will be meeting together on Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in St. Paul's United Church Hall. Registration will take place at this time.

A small group of Guides at Raymer are anxious to start the year's activities but are without leaders. It would be a shame to let this enthusiastic company disband. If you know of anyone who would be interested in getting these girls started please phone their commissioner, Mrs. W. R. Akerlund at 762-3205.

Fall In Love With Fall Fashions + Keep Winter Scene Gay With Plaids

Fall in love with fall fashions and keep your style image bright all through the winter was the message conveyed by the 12 dental assistants modelling in their fourth annual fashion show. The two hour show sponsored by the Kelowna Dental Assistants' Association at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club was convened by Mrs. Loralee Laing.

Commentator for the exciting parade of fashions was Mrs. Dave Chapman who has earned a reputation for her easy humor and nostalgic comments on fashions' cycles. Providing musical moods on the organ was Mrs. Pauline Markwood.

Models taking part in the showing of clothes, shoes, jewelry and hairstyles and make-up were: Loralee Laing, Sandi Curtis, Rita Neufeldt, Joan Jann, Joyce Horrey, Carol Nerlinger, Kristina Robson, Doreen Noble, Charlene Genovese, Kay Kelly, Juanna Madson and Alice Burian.

Plaids and tweeds came on briskly as a fall breeze and other fall moods included layered looks, classic blazer and tailored men's styles, with dolman sleeves making a great comeback after a decade.

STRAPS
Shoes with ankle straps, open shanks, criss cross peek-a-boo straps and cutouts were feminine looking accessories for evening and dressy afternoon wear.

The potato toe, gold eyelets on oxfords and extended vamp, platform soles and brass trim were attractive plays for casual and sports wear. Beautiful suedes in greys, chocolate browns, rust and deep purple and navy were admired by everyone who appreciates comfort with elegance.

Hair styles included many of the new versatile wigs, light airy and capless and coiffures emphasized the smooth shining crown with front side-rings or loose curls and waves framing a pretty cheekline.

Gold and silver chains and elegant rhinestone bracelets, earrings and brooches to match were favorite jewelry and carved ivory earrings were delicate touches of femininity worn with classic tailored men's styling pant suits.

Sandi Curtis, former Lady in Waiting for Kelowna, opened the show with a three-piece suit for all seasons. A co-ordinated mix and match outfit of grey, white and red wool plaid, the ensemble included a skirt and pants with vest. With the high-waisted pants, the rage in the fashion scene today, she wore the black velvet short top with high yoke and short sleeves. The grey suede shoes with black stitching and laces, plus choker of silver jets, made this outfit a must for female wardrobes.

Another wardrobe booster was the red three-piece double knit suit worn by Kay Kelly. As cheery as Christmas, this suit featured a straight cut skirt and black edging on the collar and front of the jacket with black buttons. Black suede sling heel sandals and a pearl brooch and earring set gave the ensemble that complete look.

BLACK AND WHITE
Although the plaids and warm fall colors captured most of the audience, black and white earned its share of applause. Alice Burian's black and white striped dress with plain black top, featured a bolero of black. The diagonal stripes in the swingy skirt gave this outfit a zing that could carry you through to next fall.

The smock dress, so big with the very young, was shown by Doreen Noble in the fall version. Tones of gold orange blended with the rich brown tweeds. Other fashion touches included the ribbed cap sleeves.

ELEGANT
A truly elegant mid-length coat was the sumptuous floral tapestry coat, modelled by Charlene Genovese. Of 100 per cent rayon velour, this versatile coat in chocolate brown and shell tones was accessorized with antiqued brown leather look vinyl boots. Trimmed with luxurious long haired lamb, the semi-fitted double breasted coat also featured a self-belt at the back.

Plaids, so popular in casual and day time wear also 'reeled' into the evening scene. A bold plaid with shimmering vest of lush black velvet featured a riot of many colors in the plaid gown worn by Juanna Madson. A large bow collar gave this outfit its finishing touch.

Another evening ensemble that will go dancing any time anywhere, was the black and white culotte gown worn by Loralee Laing. The black culotte was topped with a white halter top. Fashioned of crepe, the gown was set off by a rhinestone ring, bracelet and earring set.

If one has a limited budget, yet one evening gown is a must, Rita Neufeldt modeled the ideal solution. A lovely banana-knit in multi colors, the gown featured a beautiful draped neckline, long sleeves and a slightly gathered waistline.

A LAMB
One of the sleekest looks of the show was shown by Kristina Robson, who wore a sleek black knit pant and vest with cool assurance. A red manish tie topped the feminine blouse but the show stealer worn by this model was the luxurious pant coat of pure lamb skin.

Lavishly trimmed with dyed lamb's fur, the coat would also be smart with swingy skirts and dresses.

One of the most versatile new looks you can own this fall is a look borrowed from men's wear.

Carol Nerlinger's classic pant suit in double knit polyester featured a generous collar and pockets. A contrasting black bow tie zoned up the crisp white polyester blouse.

The full-length gown for after five is a must for this fall and winter's socials. Joyce Horrey's ankle-length Egyptian print with criss cross front bodice and inset waist band was a lovely feminine fashion sure to win compliments. Dainty open toed black patent shoes were in the right mood.

Another of the popular shades for fall is the chocolate brown and since vests are still high fashion, the combination worn by Joan Jann, was a winner. The dress of A-line skirt with the white collar look which is also making a come-back, was topped with a checker board design vest. Chocolate brown shoes with chunky heel and a tie strap set off this trim day time outfit.

During the intermission Mrs. Marion Materi, president of the association, spoke to the gathering. Proceeds of last year's show, she said, were used to purchase two electrical tooth brushes for the extended care unit at the Kelowna General Hospital. Since that she has learned that the equipment is much appreciated and most useful.

Coffee and refreshments were served at the conclusion of the evening.

COOK BOOK

Some New Cuisine Categories To Meet Okanagan Needs

A new dimension in recipes from the Valley's best cooks awaits those who collect the Courier's annual cook book issue. This year it's a brand new collection, with all new categories to sample—that is if the cooking artists part with their 'tried and true' in the same spirit as they have in previous years.

The Courier invites everyone who has a specially good recipe to take part, from teens to busy grandmothers, from bachelor working types to outdoorsy hunters and fishermen.

The new categories include, make-ahead recipes for freezing or for overnight in the refrigerator for the busy hostess. Recipes of this type are a boon to the working mother and are also wonderful for Okanagan homes where visitors sometimes descend in droves, especially during the summer. So if you have one that makes a hit, why not share the 'goodie'?

Another category, the recipe for single bachelor cooks, one or two servings, is one that has been mentioned by many readers. There are not only many young working people living alone, who like to prepare a tasty meal, but there are many senior citizens, who also would appreciate recipes that would prevent waste.

A special category for lunch pail recipes, hot or cold is another need in today's community, where many students and working people must take their noon snack along. If you have discovered some ideas for lunches that help to break the monotony of the sandwich and cookies diet, please send them along. Remember, you teens, there is a $10 prize for the best in these categories and YOU could be a winner.

The response to the wild game category introduced last year was wonderful and many expert pointers on cooking wild game were submitted, so it is being repeated and expanded to include Okanagan fish recipes. We have heard of many delicious ways of preparing fish caught in Valley streams and lakes, so how about it?

Instead of the club entry this year, we have reserved the special $20 prize for the best overall recipe submitted, not necessarily in any of the previously mentioned categories. If you have a gourmet dish that has brought raves from guests or family, send it along.

Watch for the rules and remember the deadline is Oct. 14.

ANN LANDERS

Unattached Man Is The Answer

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a highly-placed executive. I worked for nearly 20 years in another organization where I did well. I quit to take life easier and do the type of home entertaining that Brad feels is vital to his career.

A certain woman who worked as Brad's secretary for five years is causing me some sleepless nights and quiet anguish. He promoted her to assistant loan officer a few months after her husband died. I was surprised (as well as disturbed) because the man who should have had the promotion was skipped over. Brad said he did it because the "distracted widow" needed more money and an emotional boost. Every now and then Brad will tell me he took "the distracted widow" to lunch because she seemed depressed. (He has no idea how these little lunches depress me—and I'd never let on.)

We are giving a large party soon and Brad wants to invite this woman. The thought of it burns me to a crisp. Yet if I refuse I might reveal my apprehension which is the last thing in the world I want to do.

this—Kooked Up In Kalk

Dear Kal: Invite "the distraught widow" and find an attractive, unattached man to be her escort, dummy.

Dear Ann Landers: I was in hospital having my fourth daughter when I read in your column that the male determines the sex of the child. I clipped it out and am saving it for my mother-in-law. When she comes tomorrow I will hand it to her—with pleasure.

The first voice I heard when I came out of the anesthetic was hers. She said: "Don't feel bad, dear. You are still young. Maybe next time you will give us a grandson." I told her there wasn't going to be any "next time," that 35 was not so young—especially after three caesarians. I have had it with the joys of motherhood and I let her know it. She looked hurt, as if I had let the family down.

Now that you've made it clear that I am not "to blame" I feel better than I have in years.—Clarkson Hospital, Omaha.

Dear O: A woman who has produced four daughters needn't feel that she has let anybody down. Four queens isn't a bad hand in anybody's game.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you said the frequently-repeated statement that vodka and gin do not produce hangovers was "a lot of malarkey." You are correct about this. However, please be aware that vodka is plain ethyl alcohol whereas bourbon whisky and some fortified wines contain a number of amyl alcohols called fusels, somewhat similar to the barbiturates. It is a chemical fact of life that ounce for ounce, whiskies, bourbons, wines and so on are more apt to produce hangovers than vodka—as anyone who has tried them all will tell you.

So watch it, Ann.—Hung at Hanover

Dear Ann: I don't have to watch it, bub. Tomato juice on the rocks is my drink. That well-touted beverage that is supposed to leave you "breathless" can also render you senseless. And this, it seems to me, is more important than whether or not you wake up hung-over.

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for providing a new definition of "grace under pressure." When I read that you were sure it meant Princess Grace of Monaco wearing her 1952 girly I nearly fell out of my chair. You make the newspaper for me. Dimples.—An Admirer.

Dear Ad: Thanks for the day-

Cosmetician Says Try Before You Buy

'Try before you buy' is Maureen Reiswig's advice to women trying out a new line of cosmetics. Miss Reiswig, manageress of the new Merle Norman Custom Glamor studio opening in Capri shopping mall offers women this opportunity through a suggested test method.

A native of Vernon, Miss Reiswig took two years business training at the Lethbridge Community College before deciding to enter her cosmetician career. While pursuing her business college studies, she worked part-time selling cosmetics and discovered that her vocation in life was in that field. Consequently the attractive young woman took her training as a cosmetician at the Merle Norman studios in Los Angeles.

At the new Capri studio she stresses make-up is customized and women will be given lessons in make-up, starting with complexion care. Another phase of the lessons, which will be part of the free hour of beauty for women during the opening specials, includes eye lash lessons, shading and contour and eye make-up and li- lessons.

SINDEN TURNS AUTHOR

Canadians Show Spirit In Preparing For Moscow

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Harry Sinden, who came out of retirement to lead a group of Canadian professionals in what was supposed to be a conquest of the Soviet Union's amateur hockey team, now is writing a book about the experience.

Team Canada's efforts against the Soviets so far, and against the Swedish national team here, have been anything but a conquest. But that will all be in Sinden's book which he is putting together with the help of Boston author Will McDonough.

"We hope to have it out by November," Sinden said after a team practice Tuesday. "He should have the first half covering the in-Canada part done by the time we get back."

"I'm doing tapes here and mailing them home. It may be we're sacrificing quality for speed, but if it isn't pretty good I won't let it come out."

Sinden said the book would appear in both hard-cover and paperback but that no title has been selected yet.

FLY TO MOSCOW
Sinden and his squad of National Hockey League stars opened a new chapter in their adventure today when they left for Moscow for the remaining four games of the Canada-Russia exhibition series.

The games in Moscow are set for Friday and Sunday and Tuesday and Thursday next week. A game against Czechoslovakia in Prague, Sept. 30, wraps up the team's tour.

After squeezing a win and a tie between two losses to the Soviets in the four games in Canada, Team Canada beat the Soviets 4-1 here Saturday and tied 4-4 Sunday.

In the two games here, the Canadians were derisive despite avoiding a loss, and the criticism heaped on them by fans and the local press for their rough tactics in Sunday's game produced an atmosphere of gloom around the Team Canada camp.

But the gloom appeared to have evaporated Tuesday when the Canadians turned out for a strenuous drill.

"Spilled brats—they really worked hard," said Sinden after the workout.

"They couldn't take a practice like that a week ago," said assistant coach John Ferguson. "Today they were joking and laughing."

The high spirits were evident during the practice when centre Phil Esposito formed a daisy chain with one squad during cross-over drills.

"NEW SPIRIT"—Sinden said there seems to be a new spirit on the club, said Sinden.

"In Canada we tried to fight off the feeling that we were two-to-three-goal favorites. Now the feeling is we are underdogs by a couple of goals."

Absent from Tuesday's practice was winger Wayne Cashman who was taken to hospital following complications involving the cut tongue he suffered in Sunday's game.

"He can't eat, drink or talk," said Sinden. "Dr. Jim Murray ordered him into hospital—they could feed him intravenously."

Sinden said Cashman's tongue had been "almost cut through" when he was hit in the mouth with a stick by Sweden's Ulf Sterner.

"We'll work the team out again tomorrow morning before taking off for Moscow," Dr. Murray says we should know all that time whether Cash will be able to leave with us.

"We're confident he will be, but he'll be pretty weak after this, so it's unlikely he'll see action in the first game in Moscow on Friday."

Sinden, who took over the NHL Stanley Cup championship in 1970, returned this year to face the task of moulding a team out of 35 NHL stars with only three weeks of training camp.

ANOTHER'S PROBLEM
"I'd do it again, but I think someone else should get the job next time," said Sinden.

"Maybe there should be some other system, some other time of year, maybe Christmas or early January, but that would be tough and there would be a million problems."

"I think the best way to go would be to choose a single team. Maybe take the Stanley Cup winner, give them a week off and play four games."

"Make it all in Canada one year and make it all in Europe the next year. And we shall use the three-official system. The two-official system hurts, both teams."

Looking ahead to the Moscow games, Sinden said he hoped Team Canada could get back to the form which produced a 4-1 win in Toronto and a 4-4 tie in Winnipeg.

"What we are successful with in Toronto and Winnipeg should be successful in Moscow. We are trying to hold back the centre and send in the wings and we're trying to shut off their long pass up centre."

"To win this series we are going to have to play 30 per cent better than we did in Canada to get the edge in Moscow."

Liske Ready For Opener

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Quarterback Pete Liske is expected to be ready for the Philadelphia Eagles' 1972 National Football League home opener against Cleveland Browns Sunday, but head coach Ed Khayat is readying a couple of new backups just in case.

Liske suffered strained muscles in the joint of his right shoulder last Sunday as the Eagles lost 28-6 to Dallas Cowboys.

The 30-year-old Liske, former Calgary Stampeder quarterback in the Canadian Football League, is undergoing whirlpool and other treatment for the injury and will take it easy in practice drills.

John Reeves, the Eagles' No. 1 draft choice, is the backup quarterback, but showed his inexperience in the Dallas defeat.

Khayat said free safety Bill Bradley and strong safety Steve Prece, former college quarterbacks, would practice taking snaps and making hand-offs as a precautionary measure.

Theismann Back On Injury List As Argos Host Lions

TORONTO (CP) — Normally Joe Theismann's absence from the Toronto Argonaut lineup would be enough to send rival coaches frolicking to their pads in sheer anticipation of their next victim.

Such is not the case for tonight though when the Eastern Conference Argos are host to British Columbia Lions of the Western Conference in a scheduled Canadian Football League interlocking game.

Toronto coach Leo Cahill confirmed Tuesday what had been expected for several days. Theismann went back on the injury list for at least another two games. He broke his ankle in the Argo opener against Montreal on Aug. 3.

In his place will be Wally Gabler, the nomadic veteran seeing his second stint with the Argos in three years. Since being acquired from Hamilton Tiger-Cats last month, Gabler has been a pillar of consistency.

Tonight's game, scheduled for 8 p.m. EDT, will be carried on the full CTV network.

With Gabler, who has developed poise and maturity since his first tour in Toronto, Cahill was confident Argos would be in capable hands.

"His play, execution and leadership have been great," said the Toronto coach.

He didn't think it fair to blame the quarterback who encountered only one bad quarter in three games. That was the final 15 minutes against Hamilton when he threw three interceptions and the Tiger-Cats won 22-18.

KEYS HAS PROBLEMS
B.C. coach Eagle Keys, however, does have quarterbacking problems.

Of the two in camp, Don Moorhead is the more experienced though less spectacular in his play calling than newcomer Don Bunce.

Bunce has hit on six touchdown passes to two for Moorhead on half as many throws, but his interception ration is one in 7.1 passes to 16.1 for Moorhead, second best in the CFL to Edmonton Eskimo Tom Wilkinson's 25.0.

One key problem Keys has faced in compiling a 147 record this year is the 12 new faces in the starting lineup complementing another 12 who are in only their second season with the Lions.

"A lot of them are going to be good," says Keys, "but they have to have time."

Busy Softball Season Finished

The Kelowna recreation department's softball program proved very successful this year with 55 men's, women's, boys' and girls' teams playing more than 600 games on school grounds and city park ball diamonds throughout Kelowna.

The men's league played at Dr. Knox and used two diamonds for all league games and playoffs. The girls' teams (12 and under) played at Martin Elementary School while the 13 to 16 girls age group played their games at Cameron Park.

The boys 12 and under played at Recreation Park and the ladies' teams played on Bankhead, Matheson, Glenmore elementary school grounds and also at Cameron Park.

Trevino And Other Big Names Not Entered In Tournament

ROBINSON, III. (AP) — Lee Trevino's decision not to play in the defending his New Mexico Open title in Albuquerque—left Robinson's Fall Golf Classic with one of the thinnest fields of the year on the pro-golf tour.

None of the top 10 money winners from the season are in the 144-man lineup and only four of the top 20 are on hand for the $100,000 event that begins a 72-hole run Thursday on the 6,556-yard, par-71 Crawford County Country Club course.

Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper all are on extended breaks. South African Gary Player has completed his American tour for the season. Jimmy Jamieson and Grier Jones are the leading money winners entered, each enjoying his first $100,000 season.

Also on hand are Toronto's George Knudson, Miller Barber, Jim Colbert, Lou Graham, DeWitt Weaver and Bert Yanney.

Labron Harris, who scored his first tour triumph in this event last year, will defend.

The favorite for the $20,000 first prize, however, probably will come from a list that includes Deane Beman, Bob Goalby, Frank Beard and possibly Don Bies.

Supporters On Their Way

TORONTO (CP) — Two jet planes full of support for Team Canada, who start a four-game hockey series against Russia Friday, took off from Toronto for Moscow Tuesday night.

The jets carried 174 persons, the wives of the hockey players, guests, and a group of university students.

Doug Orr, 46, father of Boston Bruins Bobby Orr who is not expected to play, said the Canadians will have to adapt to European style hockey and stop recreational hockey if the team is to have some success.

The wives of the hockey players rejected charges that the Canadian players resorted to rough-house tactics against the Swedish national team.

Joy Berenson, wife of Detroit Red Wings' Red Berenson, criticized sportswriters.

"If everything had gone real super our guys would be heroes, but when it didn't the press started yelling and criticizing," she said.

Mrs. Berenson accused the press of thinking of the players as machines who should produce at peak performance instead of supporting a pick-up team of stars who had to face strong opposition after only three weeks of practice.

Chris Hodnatt, 22, a University of Windsor student, worked as a garbage man all summer to save $649 for the trip. With a Canadian flag taped to his windbreaker and "Beat Russia" buttons, Mr. Hodnatt said he will be behind in his studies but the trip is more educational than two weeks in the classroom.

A book with more than 5,000 signatures of Brampton-area citizens was given to the wives as a show of support for the hockey team.

Brantford Falls Two Games Behind In Series With N.W.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Defending champion Brantford Warriors fell two games behind in the Mann Cup senior Canadian lacrosse final Tuesday night as New Westminster Salmonbellies recorded a 13-11 victory before 2,105 fans.

Third game of the best-of-seven series will be played here Thursday night. New Westminster won the opening game on Sunday 13-8.

Brantford opened quickly with a 4-1 lead at one point in the first period but New Westminster came back to narrow the gap to 4-3 after 20 minutes.

Brantford coach Morley Kells said, "Unless we start to exert under pressure we will be going home without the Mann Cup." Kells referred to a pair of excellent chances by Brantford's star player, Paul Suggate. In the dying moments of the game when he missed the corner of the net by inches.

Ray Benne and Kerry Gallagher scored three goals each to lead the winners. Neither was in the Mann Cup series last year. Dave Matheson scored twice and added two assists with others scored by Larry Henry, Al Lewthwaite, Mac Tyler, Wayne Goss and Tracy Wright.

For Brantford, Ron McNeill and Stan Cox scored three apiece. Al Gordaner had two goals. Paul Suggate, Ken Richardson and Wally Clozza scored singles.

Boston Back On Top After Tigers Drop Pair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The winner of this mad, mad, mad American League East pennant chase obviously will be the team that manages to play fewer games than the others in the final two weeks of the baseball season.

Boston was back on top of the pack today, thanks to some friendly clouds that dumped enough moisture on Fenway Park to force postponement of Tuesday night's scheduled game against Baltimore Orioles. The rainout meant the Red Sox couldn't lose — something Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees did quite thoroughly.

Detroit, which had taken the lead the night before thanks to an open date on the schedule, dropped a doubleheader to Cleveland Indians 3-2 and 6-4 to slip into a second place tie with Baltimore, one-half game behind Boston. Fourth place New York lost to Milwaukee Brewers 7-2, but with the Tigers losing twice, the Yankees actually gained a half game on Detroit and remained 2½ games out of first place, now occupied by the Red Sox.

Elsewhere, in the American League, Minnesota Twins topped Texas Rangers 5-3. Kansas City Royals trimmed California Angels 7-2 and Chicago White Sox took Oakland Athletics 8-7 in 15 innings.

"I don't worry about the scoreboard," said Yankee manager Ralph Houk after watching the last-place Brewers put the slug on New York. But the scoreboard, with its news of Detroit's double defeat at Cleveland, was the only place Houk could find any solace Tuesday night.

PARSONS HOLDS YANKS

Bill Parsons throttled New York on six hits and George Scott and Johnny Briggs tagged consecutive homers for the Brewers.

The loss didn't do much for the Yankees' morale. New York still figures it has a break in the schedule with 10 of 12 remaining games against Cleveland and the Brewers, the East tailenders.

Of course, after what happened to Detroit, the Yankees may have second thoughts over how soft a touch the Indians may be.

Steve Dunning did in Detroit in the opener, cracking a home run and scattering nine hits before Ed Farmer came out of the bullpen to nail down the victory.

After beating Mickey Lolich in the opener, the Indians completed the sweep as Graig Nettles tagged his 17th homer of the year in the nightcap.

Willie Horton accounted for three Tiger runs with a eighth inning homer.

NO HIT, NO RUNS

"You can't win if you don't score runs," said Detroit manager Billy Martin. "And you don't score runs if you don't hit, which we didn't do."

The Athletics and White Sox played a marathon, going through 15 innings, 51 players, and 4 hours, 51 minutes before Chicago won.

It took a home run by Jorge Orta to win it for the Sox after Oakland had come from behind twice—once on a two-out, two-run single by Joe Rudi in the ninth inning and the other time on a two-run 13th inning homer by Dave Duncan.

The vital victory kept Chicago's flickering West hopes alive. The White Sox are four games back and Oakland's magic number remains nine.

Ali Heavy Favorite Tonight In Fight Against Patterson

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali returns to Madison Square Garden tonight for the first time since losing to heavyweight champion Joe Frazier when he meets Floyd Patterson, who has never lost a Garden fight.

All was the overwhelming favorite—there was no betting line—to win the scheduled 12-round fight which was to be shown on closed-circuit television at 125 locations in the United States and Canada.

Two ex-lightweight champions also were on the card.

POINTED PRIZE

BRISTOL, England (CP) — Publican Bob Shaw, furious at a final demand for an unpaid newspaper bill, didn't wait to post his cheque. Shaw, an archery enthusiast, wrapped the cheque around an arrow and fired it through the news agent's bedroom window late one night. The archery practice cost Shaw £20 (about $50) in fines from Kent magistrates.

Patterson, 37, and seven years older than Ali, has won all nine of his fights in the previous and current Gardens. In his last Garden appearance the only man ever to win the heavyweight title twice outpointed Oscar Bonavena in 10 rounds last Feb. 11, and in his last fight he stopped Pedro Agosto in six rounds on July 14 for his ninth straight victory.

Patterson has a record of 55-7-1. He has won by knockout 39 times and lost by knockout on four occasions.

Ken Buchanan of Scotland and Carlos Ortiz of New York were set for a 10-rounder which also was scheduled for closed-circuit television, preceding the main event which was to start about 10:30 p.m. EDT.

Ali and Patterson met once before, with Ali, who was then champion, stopping Patterson in the 12th round at Las Vegas, Nev., on Nov. 22, 1965.

Head Coach Harland Sware suspended Thomas and levied a daily $150 fine Aug. 29.

The fines for refusing to report total $3,300.

SKIPS LUNCH BREAK

Although most of the Chargers ended practice for lunch at 12:15 p.m. as scheduled, Thomas stayed, running play patterns. Quarterback John Hadl also stayed through lunch, throwing the ball to Thomas.

"Did you come to play?" somebody asked.

"Yes," Thomas replied.

Duane Finally Joins Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Running back Duane Thomas joined San Diego Chargers Tuesday, 20 days after being suspended for failure to report to the National Football League team.

Thomas, obtained in a trade with Dallas Cowboys, three times before visited the Chargers briefly but left each time.

A spokesman said, however, that the moody backfield star this time joined the Chargers on the playing field.

Head Coach Harland Sware suspended Thomas and levied a daily $150 fine Aug. 29.

Local Riders Perform Well

Several Kelowna riders took part in the South Okanagan combined event held in Oliver last weekend. Those attending from the Kelowna Riding Club were Russell Lawson, Sheridan O'Neill, Jody Gies, Randy Wickenhiser, Shauna O'Neill and Heather Bradshaw. Others attended from Oliver and Osoyoos with a large contingent from Parksville on Vancouver Island.

Judges for the event were Peter Proffe from Aldergrove, Mrs. H. C. Linkletter from Kelowna and Karl Michel from Penticton.

Many of the Kelowna riders experienced some bad luck in the dressage and cross country phases of the event. However, Kelowna managed to stay in the winner's circle as Sheridan O'Neill placed third in the green division and Heather Bradshaw picked up a third ribbon in the training division.

Reds Keep Rolling To Title Magic Number Now At Four

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four is Cincinnati Reds' pennant-winning magic number.

The irrepressible Reds continued to roll toward the National League West pennant by beating San Francisco Giants 5-4 Tuesday night.

"I said in the spring that we would win it," said Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson, "and I still think so. I don't consider it over yet, though. We're going to have to go out and win those games."

The Reds, with a juicy, 7½-game lead, need a combination of four victories and/or Houston Astros losses to secure their second division title in three years.

And Anderson has bad news for the second-place Astros.

"I feel as though we're starting to put our game together," said the Cincinnati skipper.

ASTROS STAY ALIVE

The Astros kept their slim pennant hopes alive by beating Atlanta Braves 3-3. In the East, Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed New York Mets 5-1, and clinched a tie for their division.

Montreal Expos dropped Chicago 12½ games behind in the East by whipping the Cubs 7-2. St. Louis Cardinals nipped Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 in 10 innings and San Diego Padres turned back Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2 in other National League action.

Cincinnati pitcher Jack Billingham gave up two home runs to Dave Kingman, his second tying the game 4-4 in the top of the eighth, but the Reds since April 25, 1967.

came back to rally in the bottom of the frame.

Cesar Geronimo laced a double, his third hit of the night, and eventually came around with the winning run on an infield error.

Clay Carroll picked up his 31st save in the ninth inning. He got it by not allowing Kingman to hit his third homer of the game.

Carroll retired Kingman for the last out of the game on an easy fly ball to centre field.

Doug Rader slammed his 21st home run of the year and Cesar Cedeno contributed a run-scoring double to help Houston beat Atlanta.

After the Astros had scored three runs after two were out in the third inning, Rader delivered the game-winning run with his homer in the fourth off Mike McQueen. Don Wilson, with late-inning relief help, won his 13th game of the season for the Astros.

HURLS SIX-HITTER

Bob Robertson slammed a three-run homer and Bob Moose pitched a six-hitter to lead Pittsburgh over New York.

The triumph reduced the Pirates' magic number to one. Their next victory, or a loss by runnerup Chicago, will hand the Pirates their third straight East championship.

Bob Bailey tripled home a run and Tim Lincecum ripped a two-run homer as Montreal defeated Chicago and 20-game winner Ferguson Jenkins before 1,362—the smallest baseball crowd at Wrigley Field since April 25, 1967.

AND THERE GOES GRAHAM HILL

Britain's Graham Hill, former world champion racing driver, tries his hand in the driver's seat of a British Army Scorpion combat reconnaissance vehicle in Bovington, England. The new track tank, powered by a Jaguar engine, has a speed of 50 miles per hour, a bit slower than some vehicles Hill has driven.

Localized Mexican 'Mafia' Stirs Up Nuevo Laredo Life

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico (AP) — Mexican mobsters are in the midst of a brutal narcotics war in this border city, spreading blood and violence among themselves even as unsuspecting tourists swarm the streets as usual.

Machine-gun fire has blazed countless times during the last 1½ years. Gangsters have dumped bodies along highways or in the Rio Grande, sprayed homes, cars and even a Mexican newspaper building with bullets.

At least five Nuevo Laredo policemen and three Mexican customs officers have been slain.

In one instance gunmen stole in to the home of a sleeping family and asked a little girl to point out her father. Then they riddled him with more than 15 bullets as she watched in terror.

Nothing seemed amiss on a recent tour of Nuevo Laredo. Shops, bars and restaurants looked as busy as ever as U.S. tourists mingled in the crowds.

MOB MAKES MISTAKE

Nevertheless, Mexican and U.S. sources estimate more than 35 persons have been slain this year alone in Nuevo Laredo, a city of 150,000 just across the Rio Grande from Laredo, Tex. At least 20 persons met similar deaths here last year.

But now the underworld has made what may prove to be its biggest mistake—the machine-gun slaying of Everardo Perales Rios, who was dispatched by Mexico's attorney-general to clean up Nuevo Laredo.

His murder sent shock waves all the way to Mexico City, where officials ordered a full-scale drive against the violence here.

The police department was beefed up with more men and equipment to meet the crisis.

Rockey Slams At Corruption

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appointed a special state prosecutor Tuesday with authority to supersede New York City's five district attorneys in a crackdown on corruption in the judicial system and in the police department.

He named Maurice Nadjar, a lawyer, to the post.

His appointment came in the aftermath of recommendations by the city's Knapp Commission, which investigated official graft, that the governor name a special prosecutor to head a campaign against corruption.

Nadjar's appointment was certain to meet strong objections from the city's district attorneys, who had earlier opposed a special prosecutor on the ground that he would limit their own efforts to combat police graft.

The special prosecutor's instructions call for him to take action against corruption in the district attorneys' offices and in the courts as well as in the police department.

Breakaway Union 'A Suicide Route'

TRAIL (CP) — The president of local 480 of the United Steelworkers of America said Tuesday that 3,800 steelworkers at Cominco Ltd. operations here and at Kimberley and Benson Lake will reject offers to join a breakaway Canadian union.

Bob Kiever said they would be committing economic suicide. The Canadian Workers Union, local one, has applied for certification to represent the Cominco employees.

and a better police training program was introduced and federal officials tightened security.

Just as Mafia families once monopolized crime in the eastern United States, federal agents in Texas say an organization appears to be forming along similar lines in Nuevo Laredo—a sort of Mexican Mafia with local talent.

FEW SOLVED

B. J. Cochran, senior resident agent of the U.S. customs bureau at Laredo, said most of the gangland style slayings are related to narcotics and a struggle for control of the smuggling trade. Few of the murders have been solved.

Machine-guns, smuggled into Mexico from the United States or elsewhere, are the mobsters' favorite weapons, Cochran said.

Nuevo Laredo's mayor and some shopkeepers say the violence over narcotics dealings has hurt business to an extent in this city of markets, curio shops, restaurants and nightclubs.

But the Nuevo Laredo Chamber of Commerce reports business is up 44 per cent from last year.

One prominent longtime border resident said the mobsters pose little danger to tourists.

"They know who they're shooting and they know why they're shooting."

Good Luck, Team Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — About 30,000 good luck messages will be waiting for Team Canada members when the athletes arrive in Moscow for the start of their four-game series against the Soviet national hockey team Friday.

The greetings left Montreal International Airport Monday night, with a second batch scheduled to leave later this week.

A post office spokesman said the messages—mostly on cards supplied by the Bank of Nova Scotia—were addressed to favorite players by the fans.

The bank printed about one million cards and made them available at its branches across the country. The post office established several collection points across Canada which then forwarded the cards to Montreal.

SUNSHINE CASTS A SHADOW THERE

TORONTO (CP) — Sunshine still casts a shadow over the $200-million Eaton Centre project for downtown Toronto.

The future of the huge development hinges on the amount of sun that will shine on Holy Trinity Church, which would nestle in the centre of big buildings planned for the Queen-Dundas-Bay-Yonge streets block.

The developing Fairview Corp. needs two church-owned lots for the project, but the congregation of the 125-year old church is holding out for a guarantee that more light will reach the church.

"We're stumped in trying to find a solution," Fairview president Neil Wood said Monday. "Time is very critical, but we haven't given up."

Douglas Gibson, chief negotiator for the church, commented: "We're waiting for something to happen."

60 HELD

LONDON (AP) — About 60 or more persons are held in custody forces during the last three days, diplomatic sources in London said Tuesday.

Those detained include about 50 Britons, eight or nine Americans, one or two French journalists and a West German journalist, the sources said.

The foreign office said the 50 British nationals were detained on grounds of Uganda's war situation.

Some Insurance Companies 'Not Paying Out Sufficiently'

MONTREAL (CP) — Some accident and sickness insurance companies are not paying out in benefits a sufficient percentage of the premiums they collect, a member of the Association of Superintendents of Insurance of the provinces said Tuesday.

F. A. Swaine, superintendent for Manitoba, said these companies "must take steps either to increase the benefits they pay or reduce the premiums they charge."

He told insurance company officials at the association's annual meeting that some companies are paying out less than 40 per cent of the premiums they receive from insured persons.

He did not name the companies which he described as "heavy volume" sickness and accident insurers. But he said a majority of Canadian companies are well above the 40-per-cent guideline.

The superintendents are provincial government insurance supervisors who set rules and recommend legislation to the provinces.

Mr. Swaine's comments followed a Canadian Association of Accident and Sickness Insurers' presentation which set 50 per cent as a possible guide for insurers.

A 50-per-cent payout would mean that insurers should pay out in benefits at least half the money they receive in premiums from insured persons.

Alex H. Jeffrey, chairman of the accident insurers' committee on legislation and government relations, said the superintendents should examine these specific cases. But he hoped "particular companies will be given time to make changes."

Autopsy Planned On Baby's Death

POWELL RIVER (CP) — An autopsy is to be held into the death of one-year-old Christopher Stephen Hawkins, who apparently choked after a fall at home on Tuesday.

BRITISH BRIEFS

UNSCHEDULED BURIAL

PUTTENHAM, England (CP) — Things weren't quite the same when parishioners strolled through the church grounds after a service in this Surrey community—one of the 50-year-old yew trees lining the path had disappeared. The 18-foot Canadian yew had been engulfed by a sudden earth subsidence during the service and only the top branches were left in view.

The district has a history of underground caves, churchwarden Bill Hayter said. "It seems we've found another one."

JUMBO JOY RIDE

LISKEARD, England (CP) — Want a holiday (with a difference) in Britain this year? How about trekking across Cornwall's moors on an elephant.

Millionaire Mike Robertson, boss of a food store chain, plans to buy 12 elephants and start the jumbo line across the barren countryside. "If it's a success, I'll branch out into camels," he said.

MUSICAL FEUD

NEWARK, England (CP) — Tax officials are having a rough time with fiddlers in this Nottinghamshire town.

They're also brushing up against guitarists, drummers and other musicians who refuse to play at social evenings for government tax collectors. One band even walked out half-way through a show when the players found out the identity of the hosts. One tax collector complained that musicians "can't understand we're only human and like to let our hair down occasionally."

LIBERATED! LONDON (CP) — From the personal column of a British daily newspaper: "Harry, have given up Women's Lib. Please come home, June."

District United Appeal Needs $77,000 This Year

'Thanks to you it's working' is the theme this year for Canada's United Appeals.

Last year United Appeals raised close to $53,000,000 to serve 2,400 voluntary agencies. This year the overall objective is $56 million.

The needs of Canadian communities go on increasing every year. The population grows and there are many things to do, many people who need help. To many people the United Appeal agency means the difference between mere existence and an interesting and purposeful life.

The appeal in the Central Okanagan has started with the commercial and industrial campaign, followed by the residential blitz Oct. 2 and 3. The objective this year for this area is $77,000.

United appeals are local, autonomous organizations administered by citizen-volunteer groups. There is no national United Appeal campaign directed from a central headquarters.

Our district is made up of people. It can be no greater than the people in it. Our people have a heart. There could be no better time to reflect on this than now, as our appeal reaches out to touch the hearts and minds of us all.

It is easy to rationalize non-participation, to regard the canvasser as just another doorstep irritation—to argue that our own needs come first. It is easy—but we do not do it.

Past records show that the people here have given readily and generously. They may not know their money will be shared among the many voluntary agencies in our towns—they may not know a great deal about how these agencies are operated. But they do know, instinctively, that these agencies are part of communities with a heart. A heart as big as its people.

Proceeds allocated locally go to Big Brothers, $1,200; C.A.R.S., $9,000; CNIB, $5,500; Red Cross, $1,520; Elizabeth Fry Society, unstated; F.I.S.H., $500; Navy League, $750; Boys' Club, $6,600; Homemakers, $3,800; Mentally Retarded, $8,000; Mental Health, $3,200; Neurological Society, $2,200; Salvation Army, $8,000; Westbank Boys' Club, $900; Council on Social Development, membership fee, $424 and Social Planning, membership, $100.

Your contribution helps support agencies which serve you, your fellow employees and your families.

Normal healthy kids need help outside the home in making the right choices these days and United Fund supported youth agencies are available to serve their needs.

As noted there are special agencies to serve children and adults with handicaps; hearing problems; speech problems and physical problems.

Marriage and family problems may be helped through professional trained counsellors. United Fund supported services are available to everyone—the aged, the young, the healthy, the sick and the handicapped—all of us, because you share in this community activity.

The United Appeal system provides full accountability to Canadians for the money they contribute to voluntary health and welfare agencies.

Prime Minister Trudeau in supporting the United Appeal said: "The act of giving, the desire to help others in need and those less fortunate than ourselves, the will to contribute selflessly to the happiness and well-being of others—these are some of the strengths of a citizenry that knows the meaning of humanitarianism and social justice. This spirit already exists amongst Canadians. Let us encourage it to grow."

United Appeal has become a very vital part of every community in our society. Let us unite to ensure its continued success in providing for our less fortunate fellow Canadians by giving generously to the 1972 United Appeal Campaign.

Remember, Thanks to you it's working.

Quebec Bridge Fell Down Twice

By BOB BOWMAN

Quebec bridge across the St. Lawrence was completed Sept. 20, 1917, and was then the longest cantilever bridge in the world. It no longer holds that distinction but is still an impressive structure, especially to sail under.

The plan to build the bridge was proposed in 1853 but no work was done until 1882 when Sir James Brunel was engaged as consultant. He had built the Forth bridge in Scotland.

A New York firm took over late in the bridge was due for completion Aug. 29, 1907. Thousands of people were watching when the southern cantilever suddenly collapsed, killing 60 workmen and injuring 11 others. There was a dramatic scene as a priest administered the last rites to a man who was caught inside a girder. There was no way to get him out and he was drowned as the water rose inside.

The federal government then put the department of railways and canals in charge of the work with two Canadian steel companies supplying the materials.

The bridge was ready for completion again Sept. 11, 1916, and another large crowd as sembled to see the centre span raised into position. It had been floated down the St. Lawrence on six barges.

There was great cheering as giant cranes began lifting the span from the barges but suddenly there was a crack like a rifle shot and the span fell into the river. Thirteen men were killed.

Another centre span was built and floated down the river. It took five days to lift it into place, but this time the effort was successful.

THE WORLD TODAY

Brazil Not Canada Next World Power

By JOHN D. HARBOR
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Brazil not Canada, will be the next world power after China because of an industrialized nation, one of the prerequisites for "greatness."

Who says so? The Brazilians who say so through word and deed are perhaps a quarter century ahead of us, if indeed we will ever aspire to more than "middle power" status in spite of our comparative geographical size to Brazil.

Compare current Canadian and Brazilian statements about national identity. The latest from Prime Minister Trudeau on the campaign trail is that the discussion about our identity need now be only academic. We know who we are at last, says Mr. Trudeau.

Brazilian President General Medici, who never has and never will go on a campaign trail, since the Brazilian Army runs Brazil, speaks of the future global role of Brazil as the inevitable spokesman for all Third World countries.

Third World mind you, not just the Western Hemisphere, or South America where Brazil takes up 40 per cent of the land mass of that continent. Included in General Medici's several inspiring speeches are reminders to Brazilians as to why they are already great—not academic queries whether they are or not. Here are some:

GIANT STEPS
Brazil is taking giant steps to fill up her staggering empty spaces, some of them perhaps costly and premature, but in terms of dynamic Brazilian views of nation-building, inevitable sooner or later.

Among these and at the top of the list the gigantic Trans-Amazonian Highway, construction of which is primarily the task of the military engineering divisions of the Brazilian Army. Spanning out from central Brazil into the endless Amazon, this crude ribbon of mud and gravel road will link the opening Brazilian wilderness with the advanced regions of her many South American neighbors.

Columbia, Venezuela and Peru, because of this highway and other Amazonian development plans under way in Brasilia, are already feeling the pressures of a new Brazilian empire.

Perhaps there are too many differences than similarities which show why Brazil will be a great power before Canada. It is true we have huge open spaces in common which must be filled, settled and utilized if the nation is to achieve ultimate goals. The Canadian Arctic and the Brazilian Amazon and how to bring them into the existing nation seem to pose similar problems for growth.

RESOURCES FOR GROWTH
Our economic growth prospects appear largely complementary. We both have huge reserves of iron ore and natural resources peculiar to our climate and topography. Brazil has sugar, coffee and cocoa. Canada has pulp and paper, wheat and fish.

Both huge, hemispheric countries are now alerted to the dangers of concentrating the future state in geographically-narrow, but historically-important parts of the country. Brazil along the Atlantic seaboard, Canada along the 49th parallel between herself and the United States.

Perhaps this is where the parting of the ways has taken place. Brazilians built Brasilia, a forced-draft new capital in every sense of the word—the bane of cost accountants, cautious politicians and wary economists.

In Canada, where we have those brands of professionals in abundance, and in places of power in Ottawa, the Canadian dream seems short at the cost of such projects.

Rule Of Thumb In Election A Voter Can Be Candidate

This is one of a series of stories on changes in the Canada Elections Act since the last federal election in 1968.

By TOM MITCHELL

OTTAWA (CP) — The rule of thumb is that if you can vote in a federal election, you probably can be a candidate.

The reverse of it is a sure thing—if you can't vote, you can't run.

For the next federal election, the voting age, and thus the qualifying age for candidates, has been dropped to 18 years from 21 under a revised Canada Elections Act passed by Parliament in 1970.

If you are of age, a Canadian citizen and lived in Canada when the election was called, you meet the general qualifications. So do British subjects who have not become Canadian citizens but were eligible to vote at the last federal election in 1968, a privilege that is being eliminated by 1975 under the revised act.

But the would-be occupant of one of the 264 House of Commons seats faces a few more restrictions than are set for the people who vote for him.

SOME ARE BARRED
A member of the regular armed forces in peacetime cannot be a candidate, for example. Neither can sitting members of provincial legislatures or the councils in the Yukon and Northwest Territories, anyone holding contracts with the federal government under which he is paid out of public funds, sheriffs, clerks of the peace, Crown attorneys and certain federal public servants appointed by the Crown or the government.

Under the old rules, gross income included only the borrower's earnings plus 50 per cent of the spouse's income.

The higher maximum loan is aimed at reducing down payments, the CMHC said.

Loans have now been set at a straight 95 per cent of appraised value instead of 95 per cent of the first $20,000 and 80 per cent of the remaining amount.

These rules apply to purchase of new homes.

Where existing homes are being bought, the maximum loan has been increased to $23,000 from $20,000.

MUST HAVE WITNESS
With the nomination a candidate must include signatures of 25 voters in his riding and a witness must accompany him to swear they are the signatures of qualified voters.

A $200 deposit in cash or certified cheque also is required as a deterrent to the frivolous. The returning officer sends it to the federal treasury. If the candidate wins or gets half as many votes as the winner the deposit is returned. Otherwise it is forfeited.

A candidate's personal spending, for hotel and travel expenses for example is limited by law to $2,000.

For the handling of all other election funds he must name an official agent.

While a candidate can be 18 years old, his agent must have to be 21. The law says the agent must be "capable of entering into contracts" in whatever province the riding is located. Some provinces have reduced this age to 18 but in others it still is 21.

A candidate may withdraw his or her nomination up to 8 a.m. local standard time on the 18th day before voting day by filing, in person, a declaration before the returning officer.

If ballots have not been printed yet, the name is left off. If they have, notice of withdrawal is posted in every polling place in the riding and each voter is told of the withdrawal in getting a ballot.

The $200 deposit is forfeit in any withdrawal.

Persons who do not vote, and thus cannot be candidates, are the chief electoral officer and assistant, returning officers in each riding who vote on one of a tie, federally-appointed judges, prisoners in penal institutions, persons restrained of liberty or deprived of management of their property because of mental illness and persons disqualified from voting because of corrupt or illegal electoral practices.

Conviction for any crime practice prohibits a person qualifying as a candidate for seven years. A five-year term is imposed on those guilty of illegal practices.

Lower Down-Payments On Homes Aim Of Changes In NHA Financing

OTTAWA (CP) — Lower down payments for home purchasers is one of the main targets of changes to National Housing Act financing announced here.

The amendments to NHA regulations raise the maximum mortgage loan for new, single-family homes to $30,000 from $25,000 and to 95 per cent of appraised value.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. said the changes reduce down payment requirements by as much as one-third on the average NHA-financed house. In some cases, down payments would be cut by as much as 70 per cent.

The NHA amendments were released to the press at the same time as they were to be made public at a news conference in Vancouver called by Urban Affairs Minister Ron Basford.

On single-family dwellings, the amount of income that can be used to cover mortgage payments and property taxes has been increased to 30 per cent from 27 per cent. In calculating income, the full earnings of both husband and wife may be taken into account.

Under the old rules, gross income included only the borrower's earnings plus 50 per cent of the spouse's income.

The higher maximum loan is aimed at reducing down payments, the CMHC said.

Loans have now been set at a straight 95 per cent of appraised value instead of 95 per cent of the first $20,000 and 80 per cent of the remaining amount.

These rules apply to purchase of new homes.

Where existing homes are being bought, the maximum loan has been increased to $23,000 from $20,000.

Medical Knowledge 'Grows Fast' And Doctors Have To Keep Up

TORONTO (CP) — Medical knowledge grows "at an alarming rate" and unless a doctor continually keeps up with the latest information he soon gets out of date, Dr. Margaret Brander, new president of the Ontario chapter of the College of Family Physicians of Canada, said Tuesday.

Dr. Brander, installed as president recently said the college's whole purpose is to ensure that general practitioners can get continuing education. She is the first woman in the position.

"The college was formed in 1954 just for this function," she said in an interview. It requires doctors to attend at least 100 hours of medical education every two years.

About 1,500 of Ontario's 3,500 general practitioners belong to the college, she said.

EDUCATION FIRST
The college also has worked to improve the amount of time spent teaching aspects of family practice in medical schools and to have interns spend a portion of their time in doctors' offices rather than just in hospitals.

"But basically we are interested in continuing education for general practitioners and in setting standards," she said. "It was not formed to set up a specialist group for general practitioners."

Asked why more general practitioners don't join, Dr. Brander said that some don't see that the college offers them anything—"It doesn't offer higher fees."

As well, "many just can't be bothered." The fee is "fairly high" and many don't want to bother amassing study credits even though they may attend educational meetings.

More than 750 doctors are attending the three-day meeting, most of which is concerned with educational lectures.

In Tuesday's sessions, delegates heard lectures on recent advances in multiple sclerosis and on important, polygenic watch in diagnosing this crippling condition.

Dr. William McIlroy, Toronto neurologist and chairman of the medical advisory committee of the MS Society, said that although there is no specific treatment, family doctors can do a great deal to help their patients and to keep them as active as possible in the community.

Dr. Charles Godfrey of Toronto described a pilot project to help children with learning disabilities. The program, held on weekends, permits hospital to make use of rehabilitation areas which usually are closed.

Dr. D. A. Psutka of Grimsby, Ont., said many hospitals could have smaller hospitals of 50 to 200 beds had intensive care units.

Such units, although costly and hard to establish because of a lack of constant medical supervision and trained nurses can be set up, he said. It required considerable co-operation from all the doctors in the area, however.

Integrity Of Capital Market Place 'Threatened By Corporate Abuses'

QUEBEC (CP) — Abuses of corporate accounting and the responsibilities of directors could lead to "a severe attack on the integrity of the capital marketplace" if steps are not taken to control them, a conference of the North American Securities Administrators Association was told Tuesday.

Stanley Smorking, associate director of the division of corporate regulation of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, said manipulation of earnings pictures is widespread in the United States.

Invalidation of the 1970 collapse of the Pennsylvania Central Railway showed that "manufactured earnings" helped the company to report profits and pay dividends until 12 months before its failure, he said.

MOVE COSTLY
Mr. Smorking said Penn Central in one case "accelerated a major merger" by six months to improve its profits picture and in doing so lost more than $2 million in profits which could have been realized if the merger had taken place as scheduled, two quarters later.

Managers of the company's real estate subsidiaries were encouraged to take actions showing "paper profits" by being given a cut of these profits, which "had to come from hard cash" in the company's operations.

Thus, "a company that was very short in cash was paying the regular dividend, was reporting earnings" until 12 months before its collapse.

"Just look where people were falling down in their responsibilities," Mr. Smorking said. "Did the directors carry out their functions in that case?"

No qualifications were required for a person to hold a directorship, "and I remember we look to the directors, especially of a public company, to protect the interests of investors," he said.

Mr. Smorking cited two other examples in which corporate profit pictures were added and said that "if good companies" are doing it, "the marginal companies" are doing it in snafus.

In the case of Penn Central "we're talking about the largest company in the U.S. and the largest transportation company."

FARS PUBLIC EFFECT
The integrity of the place was threatened, Smorking said in an interview. "Because you erode the confidence of investors."

"And that's what I'm going on—that if they see this going on and if industry not tighten up accounting reporting, the public confidence is gone."

"People don't go to a place where they feel there's going on."

"And that's the key everybody's best interest keep up the integrity marketplace."

Hunters Can Be Vandals

Many sportsmen's clubs are urging their members, and hunters generally, to report acts of vandalism promptly to the RCMP as the 1972 hunting season gets under way throughout British Columbia.

Several convictions were made last year as the result of information supplied by public spirited sportsmen.

Irresponsible acts by a few vandals, like shooting livestock and destroying logging equipment and powerlines, reflect discredit on all hunters. More serious is the hazard to innocent people.

In past years damage to powerlines and insulators by rifle fire has left entire communities without light, heat and power. Hospitals, schools, traffic control signals, fire alarms and other essential services all have been affected.

In some cases considerable time may elapse before line crews are able to locate and repair the damage. Meanwhile innocent people, often the aged and sick, suffer needlessly.

Linemen face a further hazard. An insulator that has been cracked by gunfire may break while they are working on the pole or tower, with very serious consequences.

The great majority of hunters are good responsible citizens. They're concerned, and really want to put a stop to this kind of anti-social behavior. They know that all hunters get a bad name when some irresponsible person takes pot shots at an insulator.

Organized sportsmen have taken positive steps to help stamp out this vandalism. Clubs affiliated with the B.C. Wildlife Federation support an educational program that stresses safety in the field, and respect for game laws and private property.

The hunter training program sponsored by the provincial government Fish and Wildlife Branch emphasizes the same objectives.

One company offers a standing reward of up to $250 for information leading to the identification and conviction of persons wilfully damaging insulators, powerlines and other equipment.

Provinces Asked To Make Sense Out Of Crowded Courtroom Scene

TORONTO (CP) — The federal government will stop naming judges to over-burdened courts unless the provinces act to cut down the workload, Federal Justice Minister Otto Lang said recently.

He said provincial governments soon will "have to make sense" out of the growing number of court actions resulting from legislatures enacting more and more laws.

Each new law regulates some activity and usually provides recourse to the courts both for those who administer it and those who object to the way it is applied, Mr. Lang said in a telephone interview from Ottawa.

In another interview, Attorney-General Dalton Bales of Ontario said if Mr. Lang wanted a better example of how legislative activity complicates the work of the courts, he ought to look at the results of recent amendments to the Criminal Code—a federal law.

BURDEN SHIFTS
Mr. Bales also said the job of settling disputes arising out of new laws has tended in recent years in Ontario to fall on special boards and commissions rather than on the courts.

The federal government appoints judges to the county and supreme courts of the provinces. Last November the trial division of the Ontario Supreme Court was increased to 31 judges from 26 and the county court to 98 judges from 84.

(The judges of the criminal and family divisions of the provincial court are appointed and paid by the province.)

Mr. Lang said he is convinced that case backlogs in the courts had to be eliminated.

MORE PRESSURE DUE
This meant examining the courts, their makeup and the way they operate. The introduction of a promised national legal aid scheme jointly financed by Ottawa and the provinces "will only add to this pressure," he said.

Some court procedures "may be unnecessarily cumbersome or costly or both."

Ottawa was casting about for ways to help reduce the load by simplifying hearings which determine whether there is enough evidence to put on trial people accused of more serious crimes.

"It may be that we can find a different way of assuring the defence that it sees everything there is to see of the Crown evidence without going through a preliminary hearing," Mr. Lang said.

LOUNGE FOR GAYS
NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia College Dean Peter Pouncey announced Monday he has agreed that homosexuals are as much entitled to a "minority lounge" as are blacks, Latins and Asians. The other minorities have separate lounges recognized by the undergraduate college of Columbia University, but Gay Liberation leaders have charged they were being denied the same recognition. A lounge frequented by homosexuals has been functioning at Columbia, but without official recognition.

Ltd., formerly Gas Arctic Northwest Project Study Group, is carrying out extensive studies on every aspect from economics to environmental control.

Officials say the cost of the studies could rise to $25 million before any definite plans are formulated. Cost of the pipeline is expected to surpass $6 billion.

Gas Arctic and Northwest were, until June, separate groups conducting individual studies. They have merged and are reassessing their plans in light of each other's findings.

YEAR OF HEARINGS
Vernon Hortie, former president of TransCanada Pipelines Ltd. and present head of the new organization, said recently that if application for construction can be filed by mid-1973 "we hope that another year for hearings and a decision will do it."

Assuming that all goes as planned, officials want construction to start in the winter of 1975-76.

But before the first pick cracks the ice, the federal government will have to give its approval, international bankers will have to provide financing and the builders will have to satisfy environmentalists that the pipeline is no ecological danger.

The builders must also prove that nothing can go wrong with the pipeline to connect discoveries in the Mackenzie River delta and on Alaska's North Slope with southern markets.

Gas Arctic had been planning a route that would take the pipeline along the Mackenzie Valley to Alberta and connect with the Alberta Gas Trunk Line Co. Ltd. pipeline system.

MANITOBA TERMINUS
Northwest, on the other hand, favored a route cutting diagonally across the Northwest Territories, Alberta, Saskatchewan and into southeastern Manitoba.

Whatever plan is implemented, the gas will eventually serve markets between California, the midwestern U.S. and Eastern Canada.

Reserves of gas on the North Slope have been estimated at 26 trillion cubic feet while the Mackenzie delta supply has been estimated at 15 trillion cubic feet.

Sixteen members of Canadian Arctic Gas and at least a dozen companies from both sides of the border have expressed interest in joining.

William Wilder, former president of Wood Gundy Ltd. of Toronto and now chairman of Canadian Arctic Gas, said "we definitely anticipate there will be more partners by the end of the year."

TONS OF STEEL NEEDED
The amount of steel needed to lay the pipeline has been estimated by Mr. Hortie to be about 1.5 million tons. But it could be "1.7 million tons or 1.6 million."

Among other areas of study is the number of men needed for the construction of the pipeline. Officials estimate a total work force of between 5,000 and 6,000 will be needed at the height of construction and between 350 and 400 men will be needed to operate it.

Tradesmen such as welders and operators of heavy equipment may be difficult to get in the numbers needed, but Mr. Hortie is confident that the situation gets tight "and we'll train men."

Both officials concurred that gas from Alaska and the delta is going to be expensive, perhaps between 75 cents and $1 for 1,000 cubic feet at Emerson, Man., compared with the current price of about 35 cents.

But says Mr. Hortie, it will be competitive with gas produced in other ways such as that from coal.

Lots of Candidates Money To Be Cast On Stony Ground

This is one of a series of stories on changes in the Canada Elections Act since the federal election of 1968.

By TOM MITCHELL
OTTAWA (CP) — About half the hopeful candidates for the next federal election probably will cast their $200 nomination deposits on stony ground.

In the 1968 race for the same 264 Commons seats being contested this time, 437 out of the 967 candidates saw their deposits turned over to the public treasury. The $200 is returned if a candidate wins or gets at least half as many votes as the winning candidate in his riding. Otherwise, it is forfeit.

In 1965, a total of 483 of the 1,013 candidates lost their deposits.

The Liberals, Conservatives and New Democrats each ran 263 candidates in 1968. Liberals and Conservatives declined to oppose Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux who ran and won as an independent in the Ontario riding of Stormont-Dundas. An unofficial NDP ran there — he lost his deposit — but the NDP had entries in only 73 of the 74 Quebec ridings.

ONLY NINE LOST

The Liberals, who formed a majority government after the election, had nine candidates who lost deposits, meaning that about 3.5 per cent of Liberals entered lost their $200.

Among Conservatives the lost-deposit total was 91, just less than 35 per cent. For the NDP — 185 candidates — more than 70 per cent of those carrying the party colors did not get their money back.

The Creditist party ran 70 candidates in Quebec and one in New Brunswick and 49 of them, about 69 per cent, lost deposits.

Social Credit ran 31 candidates, most of them in British Columbia, and 29 lost deposits — a casualty rate of just over 93 per cent.

For lesser parties and candidates running independently of any party the chance of losing a deposit runs within a whisker of 100 per cent.

ALL COMMUNISTS LOST

The loss was 100 per cent in 1968 among the 14 Communist candidates and five Parti de la Démocratisation Économique entries who ran in Quebec.

Besides Mr. Lamoureux, the only other candidate out of 57 who ran under a variety of independent labels who got his $200 back was William Hawrelak, former Edmonton mayor. He ran third in a four-way race in Edmonton Centre but got more than half the number of votes of Conservative winner Steve Paproski.

So more than 96 per cent of independent candidates forfeited deposits.

Anywhere east of the Ontario-Quebec border was tough territory for the NDP, which never has elected a federal candidate in Quebec or the four Atlantic provinces although the old CCF won Cape Breton South four times from 1940 on. The NDP ran 105 candidates east of Ontario in 1968 and only two got their deposits back.

All 19 NDP hopefuls in Alberta lost their $200 and so did the party candidates in the single-seat ridings in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon. Saskatchewan was the only province where no NDPer lost a deposit.

ROUGH IN ALBERTA

Liberals had their roughest time in Alberta, where six of them saw deposits forfeited. Conservatives had tough sledding in the industrial heartland, losing 46 deposits in Quebec and 25 in Ontario.

Social Credit candidates lost deposits in 17 of the 19 British Columbia ridings.

The NDP turned over the biggest chunk — $37,000 — of the total of $87,400 in lost-deposit money. Conservatives lost $18,200, Creditists $9,800, Social Crediters $5,800, Liberals $1,800, Communists $2,800, Démocratisation Économique candidates $1,000 and independents $11,000.

Breakdown of lost deposits by parties and provinces:
Liberals — Quebec 1, Saskatchewan 2, Alberta 6.
Conservatives — Quebec 46, Ontario 25, Manitoba 3, British Columbia 16, Northwest Territories 1.

New Democrats — Newfoundland 7, Prince Edward Island 4, Nova Scotia 10, New Brunswick 10, Quebec 72, Ontario 50, Manitoba 7, Alberta 19, British Columbia 4, Northwest Territories 1, Yukon 1.

Creditists — New Brunswick 1, Quebec 48.

Danes Planning Exploration For Greenland's Oil And Gas

GODTHAAB (AP) — Exploration in Greenland for oil and gas will begin next spring, says Otto Jensen, of the Danish government's mining department.

Discovery of oil on Canada's Ellesmere Island opposite Thule on Greenland has led to Danish hopes of an oil source that will help offset the high cost of development of the Arctic territory.

Greenland was colonized by the Danes 251 years ago and was integrated into the kingdom of Denmark in 1953. The Danish government is committed to spending $100 million a year until 1985 to modernize Greenland and provide an industrial basis of existence for its 48,000 inhabitants.

Jensen said initial exploration will be on the continental shelf in Davis Strait from Disko Island at 72 degrees latitude to Cape Farewell, 10 degrees further south.

The search will be for both oil and gas in concession areas. In the same way as it had been done off Norway.

The government will begin accepting applications in October.

MAY GO OFFSHORE

Later the possibilities of boring both at sea and on land on Greenland's east coast will be examined, Jensen said.

Hitherto only cryolite, an ingredient of aluminum, and coal have been exploited in Greenland. The cryolite has been exhausted. Coal mining has been abandoned as unprofitable.

But recent explorations have disclosed enormous mineral deposits. Whether they can all be exploited in face of the extreme climatic and geographic conditions is being studied.

A Canadian company will begin mining lead and zinc on Black Angel Mountain in the Umanak Fjord next year. The deposit of ore is estimated at 15 million tons. Construction of mining and shipping facilities is already under way.

A deposit of iron ore estimated at two billion tons has been located in the Godthaab Fjord. Molybdenum, used for tempering steel, has been traced in east Greenland. The deposit is estimated at 120 million tons.

NICKEL FOUND

At Fiskennaeset, south of Godthaab, chromium and nickel have been found.

At Narssaq, on the southern tip of the island, there are at least 200,000 tons of uranium ore. But Jensen said no concession for exploration will be granted as the Danish government intends to keep it in reserve for itself.

Jensen refused to be drawn into any speculation on the possible value of the oil and mineral deposits.

Claus Bornemann, head of the secretariat of the Greenland ministry, said it would be about 10 years before substantial returns could be expected.

East And West Met In Summer Under Young Voyageurs Project

HALIFAX (CP) — East and West met in Canada this summer when 21 high school students from British Columbia visited the Halifax area under the Young Voyageurs program.

Ten boys and 11 girls, all from the Nelson-Trail-Castlegar area, stayed in private homes here as guests of local students during their first visit to the East.

Their trip was part of the $1.7-million Summer '72 group travel project administered by the department of the secretary of state.

While in the area, the young people went aboard the Blue-nose II, attended the International Fisheries Exhibition at Lunenburg, N.S., toured the Bedford Institute of Oceanography in Dartmouth, N.S., and had a night out at the Neptune Theatre here, where they saw a performance of Moliere's comedy The Miser.

"Students can learn more during one trip like this than they do in all of their geography and social science classes," Al Morrison, a high school teacher who organized the host students here, said of the Young Voyageurs excursions.

His group travelled to Joliette, Que., during the summer, as well as entertaining their guests from British Columbia.

COULD EXPLORE

The students had plenty of time to explore on their own, or with the people who opened their homes to them.

The West Coast visitors were also welcomed aboard the Russian freighter Veliki Luki in Halifax Harbor; some of them spoke Russian, it turned out, and were able to converse with the crew.

"The crew members were delighted to learn that some of these Canadian students could speak Russian, while for their part many could speak English fluently," Mr. Morrison said.

"They were full of curiosity about British Columbia, while the students were able to learn more about the U.S.S.R.," he added.

Before going home, the Voyageurs were guests of honor at a banquet here. During the evening they were installed as members of the Order of Good Cheer, founded at Port Royal in Nova Scotia by Champlain in the 17th century.

The British Columbia group stopped for two days in Halifax, where they toured the House of Commons and the National Arts Centre.

On their way home, they were able to spend a day in Montreal.

SCIENCE VIEW

New Heavy Water Plants Resisted

OTTAWA (CP) — Demands for the Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. to start building new heavy water plants are expected to be resisted by the science ministry.

The science ministry is recommending a more pessimistic view of the new plants than the Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. has.

The study says no new production facilities are needed until the 1990s for heavy water, which is used in producing nuclear power. That would mean a decision on more production capacity for two or more.

The study has not yet been made public.

Science ministry sources say the new study is more conservative than the Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. announcement, and the department of energy, mines and resources.

It is known that the study also recommends any new heavy water production plant be based on a new manufacturing process.

In this respect, the science ministry study is in step with the Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. announcement of an agreement with Polymer Corp. Ltd. to work on two such new methods.

Polymer, another Crown agency, is to take the lead in development work and build and operate experimental facilities at Sarnia.

Expenditures in the order of $1 million to $2 million a year are expected if the processes being developed continue to attract attention, AECL said last week.

As well, the science ministry recommends a decision be made now on construction of new, large-scale nuclear pilot plant that uses heavy water as a moderator and not as coolant, too.

Canada has developed its own heavy water reactor, the deuterium Canadian deuterium reactor, which uses natural uranium as fuel and heavy water to slow down the speed of neutrons released during fission of uranium atoms.

This allows uranium neutrons to maintain a self-perpetuating chain reaction, producing continuous heat to operate steam turbines and thus produce electricity.

Heavy water occurs naturally, but only in a ratio of about one part to 7,000 parts in a glass of ordinary water.

It looks and even tastes just the same as ordinary water but it weighs about 10 per cent more and is about 33 times as efficient a moderator for nuclear fission.

Heavy water now is separated from ordinary water with the aid of hydrogen sulphide, AECL sources say.

Two new processes planned at the Sarnia plant have potential advantages of lower capital costs, lower energy consumption, smaller equipment, less corrosion and no need to use hydrogen sulphide, an AECL news release said.

WATER SCARCITY

AECL has 11 Candu reactors either operating, under construction or committed by 1979, but these have been plagued by shortages of heavy water.

J. Lorne Gray, AECL president, told a Commons committee earlier this year that an extra $30 million has been paid since 1966 to run plants despite shortages. More than 2,360 tons have been bought from foreign sources including the U.S., the Soviet Union and Britain.

Costs ran about $30 a pound or about $12 higher than prices expected if Canadian plants had been operating as scheduled.

It now is expected to be operating by 1975.

There also have been production problems at the Canadian General Electric plant at Port Hawkesbury, N.S., now operating at 60 per cent capacity.

An AECL plant near Kinross, Ont., is expected to be operating late this year, "if labor disputes with Ontario Hydro are settled," says an AECL source.

L. R. Haywood, vice-president of AECL, said in July that new heavy water plants still will be required by 1985.

Half the power needs will be supplied by nuclear plants within 10 years, he said. And it also is a growing market overseas for nuclear reactors, which Canada can supply if it also can guarantee supplies of heavy water, he said.

Reactors have been sold to India and Pakistan. AECL is bidding to supply a Candu reactor to Argentina and later this month it will submit a proposal to Taiwan.

Reactor was made by Green, a researcher for Ontario Probe, an anti-pollution organization based at the University of Toronto, and Green, the executive director of the National and Provincial Parks Association.

Green and Ron Alexander, a researcher, said in the book there is "strong evidence to suggest members of the government have a relationship" with the Denison Mines Ltd.

mining company, the record has a controlling interest in the Ontario Cement Co. Ltd. that has been operating from the dunes, 11 from Picton, since 1958.

head of Denison, Stephen Green, is a director of the municipal Progressive Conservative candidate in the Oct. 3 election.

Asians Told: Speed It Up

KAMPALA (Reuters) — A Ugandan military spokesman warned Asians Tuesday that if they want peace with the Uganda army they should come forward quickly to get clearance to leave the country.

In a statement broadcast by Radio Uganda, the spokesman said the armed forces are "concerned at the delaying tactics which are now being adopted by the non-citizen Asians" who are expected to leave Uganda by the Nov. 8 deadline.

He referred to reports that Asians are not coming forward to get British entry permits from the British high commission and the Bank of Uganda, and said this "should never in any way be attributed to the invasion that was mounted by Tanzanian armed forces combined with guerrillas."

The invaders crossed into Uganda early Sunday, and were last reported to be retreating towards the Tanzanian border.

The spokesman said the invasion is "being handled effectively by the armed forces of Uganda and will never in any way interrupt the move to expel the Asians out of Uganda."

In the last two days only a few hundred of the 4,000 British Asians called forward by the British high commission to be processed for British entry have actually turned up.

He added that all government departments concerned with the expulsion exercise had been directed to "speed up the Asian exercise with minimum delays."

Canada's Lack Compounded

S. prices recently rose to a point.

Canada's shortages were compounded by failure of a heavy water plant at Gloucester to go into production scheduled in 1968. The plant, finally built by Deuterium of Canada, Ltd., a private firm, taken over by the provincial government and now is leased to AECL.

It now is expected to be operating by 1975.

There also have been production problems at the Canadian General Electric plant at Port Hawkesbury, N.S., now operating at 60 per cent capacity.

Far-reaching plans have been drawn up for the development of the North and West. It is outlined in this special series by R. J. Peterson of The Canadian Press.

TORONTO (CP) — There have been no illusions. The development of any one of the projects requires an enormous amount of emotional effort, ingenuity and real brilliance.

With quiet emphasis, Dr. Verne Atrill told two years of behind-the-scenes work by some of the best minds in Canada brought to bear upon a problem posed by Prime Minister Trudeau: expansion and development of a country that has no place to go but north.

Toronto economist Dr. Atrill went further:

"Our group has every intention of trying to see that these things happen. Two years ago, those were words. Now they are not words."

"These things," Dr. Atrill summed up the work of the Great Plains Project:

"It has been a group that has been almost exclusively concerned with large projects, and not many of them, that strike us as being unusually important for Canada. Projects that in most cases are so large they would pull a great chunk of industry together. Whatever direction they go, industry would go in that direction."

The existence of the Great Plains Project was disclosed by Mr. Trudeau only last spring when he told in a Toronto speech of the possibility of a determined drive to open the North not a half-century hence, but within little more than a decade.

The Great Plains Project, a name so uninformative that it may have been chosen for that reason, is centred in a large map-lined, bare room in a downtown Toronto building.

To that room come for quiet discussion and solid planning experts in a dozen professional environments—industrialists, scientists, engineers, academics—who feel free only here to let imagination run loose.

None is a visionary, defined as one "given to seeing visions or to indulging in fanciful theories." None receives a fee.

Dr. Atrill, who brought them together, said in an interview the existence of the group, which reports directly to the prime minister, was kept almost secret because all of its members "had reputations to lose and at least in the early stages, the ideas had a high probability of being nonsense."

HAS MANY EXPERTS
 Even now, not all the names of those in the group have been made public, not for any need to maintain secrecy but because the group feels there is no necessity of bandying names about. The names of chairmen of sub-committees have been announced when it was felt expedient to report on ideas being considered.

One is Dr. Morris Wayman, professor of chemical engineering at the University of Toronto, who heads the project's petrochemical section. He is described by Dr. Atrill as Canada's authority on pulp and paper products from the forests and an outstanding chemical engineer.

Dr. Wayman predicted in a separate interview the shift of a "significant" portion of the paper industry from a forest base to a petroleum base.

Another is Brig.-Gen. Max Friedl of Ottawa, director-general of maintenance for the Canadian Armed Forces. He heads the transportation committee and is the project's expert on the giant-plane proposal. This is more than a proposal. Boeing Aircraft of Seattle says the plane can be built. Possible cost: $70 million each.

Capt. Tom Pullen of Ottawa, perhaps Canada's leading authority on the Arctic tanker and freighter operation, heads the committee which reported year-round navigation in the Arctic is possible.

WANT ACTION NOW
 There now are about 35 persons in the group of which Dr. Atrill is chairman. Their recommendations go to the prime minister and often directly to government departmental heads and others involved in a particular project.

Dr. Atrill was told simply to get together the best men in the country and think of development of Canada, with emphasis on the West and the North. There was one restriction: projects proposed by the group would have to be possible within existing technology.

The federal government promised to cover only the group's operating and administrative expenses in the initial phase. These are estimated to be about $80,000 so far.

Dr. Atrill said: "We're not so much interested in saying to the prime minister that Northport is a good idea or that fish farming is a good idea... as we are in saying, 'Now, to increase the chances that Northport will happen sooner, we suggest that the department of industry, trade and commerce look carefully at the following proposal to allow some development to take place right now.'"

"If that development takes place, perhaps it will make it easier for the next thing to happen, which will make it easier for something else to happen and so on."

POLITICS OUT
 The Great Plains Project's recommendations for feasibility studies cover possible developments in the North and West so vast that two decades ago they would have been considered staggering.

Members of the group, said Dr. Atrill, probably belong to all three major political parties and for that reason alone, discussions and concrete suggestions have been non-political in nature.

Said Dr. Atrill:

"In two years the group has never even discussed the question of American ownership of Canadian industry."

"The group's field of expertise is development management. They are business managers of one type or another and in a rather ruthless way we have kept out of our discussions all questions in which the group hasn't expertise."

"We feel this isn't the right group to be discussing such questions."

Dr. Atrill's field is market research. He was a gold medalist on graduation from the University of Western Ontario in his native London and got his doctorate at the London School of Economics in England. For the last 15 years he has been a principal in market-research firms across Canada.

How long will it take for all the project's proposals to come about?

Said Dr. Atrill:

"Our group isn't as much interested in when this will come about as it is in how quickly we can start a development process going."

Public Just 'Misunderstands' How Enterprise System Moves

OTTAWA (CP) — Public misunderstanding of business and the principles of the competitive enterprise system is a major concern of A. John Ellis of Vancouver, incoming president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

In an interview looking forward to his term as head of the 125,000-member chamber, the 57-year-old executive vice-president of the Bank of Montreal, Vancouver, cited economic understanding and co-operation by government, business and labor as the major challenges in the years ahead.

"A start toward this objective must be made right now," he said.

"The words business and profit have become, in many quarters, ugly words, mainly, I feel, because there is a lack of knowledge about the basic facts."

He suggested that basic economics should be introduced in Canadian schools at the appropriate levels.

TWO GREAT PROBLEMS

"The two greatest worries today, as we are witnessing a resurgence of the economy and looking forward confidently to the months ahead, are unemployment and inflation."

"The answer to this challenge appears to be for closer teamwork, co-operation and liaison between the three major groups—government, labor and business—who can, I'm sure, collectively lick these two problem areas."

Mr. Ellis said one of his first tasks as head of the chamber will be to investigate the possibility of some form of ongoing communication between the three major groups.

"I feel that in the past the government has been very co-operative and met with certain business groups when there was an emergency situation or an urgency."

His suggestion is for continued liaison on an informal basis with the prime minister, or some of his cabinet and a varying group of business and labor representatives.

"They could have informal talks about the type of problem that is worrying them in their own particular area of activity, without necessarily any specifics in mind, excepting when comes the point that the government decides to put in some new legislation. It will know what the business and labor communities are thinking about the situation and how the problems will affect them."

'Red Tide' Hits Clams

BOSTON (AP) — Partial or absolute bans on the sale of soft shell clams were in force Tuesday in the five northern New England states because of the presence of toxic "red tide" algae off the region's coast from Cape Cod to Maine.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration began a recall of soft shell and hard shell clams and mussels distributed since Sept. 4 by 181 small packing and processing companies in Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

The FDA said the shellfish had been infected by the "red tide" algae. A spokesman said the agency was trying to determine how much of the shellfish product had been distributed outside New England.

The Massachusetts department of public health reported Monday 23 cases of illness in the region linked to the consumption of clams believed infected with the algae's poison.

Only two of the cases were classified as severe, and the department said they would recover.

BANS ABSOLUTE

Absolute bans on the sale of soft shell clams were in effect in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Massachusetts. Rhode Island has banned import of clams from New Hampshire, Maine and Massachusetts.

Connecticut has taken no action.

The red tide—called Gonyaulax tamarensis by scientists—is a small marine organism that is poisonous to certain shellfish and to people who eat the shellfish.

In humans, the algae poison produces symptoms of paralysis and in its most serious form, affects breathing. Several of those affected have been taken to hospitals where their breathing was aided by respirators.

There is no known antidote. The algae was first sighted last Thursday off Massachusetts and the first reports of illness came Friday.

Taiwan Would Reject War If Japanese Cut Off Treaty

TAIPEI (Reuter) — Premier Chiang Ching-kuo warned Tuesday that Taiwan would revert to a state of war with Japan if the Tokyo government unilaterally abrogated the peace treaty signed between the two countries in 1952.

Sources said Chiang gave the warning at a meeting with Japanese special envoy, Eisusaburo Shima, who arrived here last Sunday to seek understanding of the Taiwan government's moves to normalize relations with Peking.

Chiang, clearly and firmly informed, the present Taipei-Japan relations were based on the 1952 treaty, the sources said.

PEKING (Reuter) — China appeared to insist the Japanese government should sever ties with Taiwan and sign a new peace treaty with the People's Republic as the price for diplomatic relations between the two countries, diplomats said Tuesday.

This for Premier Chou En-lai's Monday night at a banquet for a group of members of Japan's governing Liberal Democratic party who are here to prepare the way for the forthcoming visit of Premier Kakuei Tanaka.

In his speech welcoming the delegation, Chou said Tanaka and the Japanese foreign minister, Masayoshi Ohira, had on many occasions expressed full understanding of China's three principles on the restoration of Sino-Japanese diplomatic relations.

CAUGHT IN ACT

A worried Eileen Fagan, 17, has her hand stuck in a safe at the North Hollywood drive-in restaurant where she works and firemen are only half-way through the 5½-hour ordeal of freeing her. She had been placing money in the wall safe but stuck her hand in too far. Frustrated firemen used a jackhammer to remove the safe from the wall, then took her and safe to a hospital where doctors used drugs to calm her and reduce the hand's swelling before slipping it out safely.

Consumer Prices Again Increase

Prices rose last month in all the principal cities for which separate statistics are kept, ranging from one-tenth of one per cent in Toronto to 1.3 per cent in St. John's, Nfld., Statistics Canada said Tuesday.

The indexes, based on 1961 prices in each city equalling 100, cannot be used to compare living costs between one city and another because differing factors are involved for housing and heating, depending on the climate of various regions.

The indexes for August, followed by July indexes, are: St. John's, Nfld., 132.3, 130.6; Halifax, 132.5, 131.5; Saint John, N.B., 132.4, 131.0; Montreal, 132.6, 131.7; Ottawa, 137.4, 136.1; Toronto, 135.9, 135.8; Winnipeg, 134.0, 133.1; Saskatoon and Regina, 129.2, 128.0; Edmonton and Calgary 133.6, 133.1; Vancouver 132.9, 131.8. August and July indexes based on 1969 prices equalling 100 were: Quebec City, 107.7, 106.9; Thunder Bay, 108.4, 107.2.

DANCE PROGRAM

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Dance Theatre will premiere six new works in its fall season. Three of the works will be scored by Milton Barnes, conductor of the Toronto Repertory Orchestra. The 11-member performing company also will participate in the teaching of more than 60 permanent students of contemporary dance as well as 200 casual students.

A 'Better Way' To Combat Inflation

TORONTO (CP) — Wage and price controls would have been a better weapon to fight inflation than the methods used by the government, federal Labor Minister Martin O'Connell said.

Mr. O'Connell, who became labor minister last January, said traditional methods of fighting inflation such as reducing government spending and restricting the supply of money in the economy are not reliable.

The government used those methods and the result was "extra painful to employment," he said.

The alternative is to control inflation by controlling wages and prices on a temporary "emergency" basis, he said.

Mr. O'Connell was addressing a nomination meeting that acclaimed Liberal David Weatherhead, parliamentary secretary to Urban Affairs Minister Ron Basford, to seek re-election in the Toronto riding of Scarborough West.

The labor minister said the real culprit behind unemployment is Canada's high birth rate following the Second World War and not government policies.

He said Canada will need one million new jobs over the next four years.

"It means we will have to run awfully hard and fast in new job creation," he said.

But Mr. O'Connell said the worst unemployment now is over and the unemployment rate is about to subside.

BASSOON CONCERT

TORONTO (CP) — A concert intended to show the musical potential of the bassoon and the range of compositions available for the instrument, is planned for Oct. 7, with Christopher Weait performing. Mr. Weait, currently with the Toronto Symphony, formerly served as principal bassoon at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

GAIN A STATION WAGON WITHOUT LOSING A CAR.

The great thing about station wagons is that they give you plenty of room. But the bad thing about many of them is that they make you drag around a lot of excess baggage: themselves.

The Volvo 145 doesn't. It's big inside. The cargo area will hold a six foot sofa. And the front seats will accommodate people up to six-six and a half. Comfortably. They're fully-reclining bucket seats that have an adjustable lumbar support to make the seat backs firmer or softer.

The Volvo 145 gives you a lot of room. But it doesn't take up much.

It's shorter than a Chevy Nova sedan. And since it has a shorter turning radius than a VW, you shouldn't have to drive around in search of a place to unload your load.

So go to your local Volvo dealer and test drive the 145. The station wagon that carries a big load without making you carry a big burden.

Africans Now Burning Short Fuse

LONDON (AP) — Relations between two East African neighbors, Tanzania and Uganda, have become touchier than ever. Tempers on both sides are hot. Real war could break out.

That was the concern in London Tuesday after two days of fighting between Uganda and Tanzania-based forces reported to include exiled supporters of former Ugandan President Milton Obote. The present ruler, Idi Amin, ousted Obote in a January, 1971 coup.

"There is now a real danger that the minor military uprising of two days ago will erupt into a full-scale war in East Africa," Patrick Keatley, diplomatic correspondent of The Guardian, said.

One possibility was that Amin would order his troops to pursue retreating rebel guerrillas across the frontier. President Julius Nyerere has mobilized a 1,000-man force with Chinese-supplied tanks and guns in the border region and ordered it to destroy any Ugandans who enter Tanzania.

Relations between Amin and Nyerere have been strained ever since Obote took refuge in Tanzania. Amin has repeatedly charged Tanzania planned to invade.

HAS AIR FORCE

Tanzania can outgun the Ugandans but the Ugandan army has a numerical edge and a small jet air force, military experts noted.

Amin's 12,000-man armed forces should have little trouble defeating the pro-Obote guerrillas, between 1,000 and 1,500 men, they said.

But a crucial factor is whether the various tribal groups in the country are loyal to Obote or to Amin.

There was at least one major army mutiny last year following Obote's overthrow. Many soldiers fled to Tanzania to join Obote in exile.

There is little doubt, however, that since Amin began his purge of Uganda's Asians, long envied by black Africans for their business abilities, the burly general's popularity has soared among his impoverished blacks.

Experts felt Nyerere would be unlikely to provoke any major confrontation. Most of his 10,000-man army is based in southern Tanzania along the border with Portuguese Mozambique.

African experts said neither army is really in condition to fight any major action along the frontier squeezed between Lake Victoria and Rwanda's Mountains of the Moon.

U.S. Ruling Not Liked

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (CP) — United States labor legislation designed to discourage American corporations from operating abroad will mean more unemployment, hardship and more anti-American feelings among Canadian trade unionists, a Canadian labor leader said Tuesday.

Jean Beaudry, executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, told the 15th convention of the Tobacco Workers' International Union that members of all international unions with Canadian membership should pressure to have Canada exempted from the provisions of the Burke-Hartke bill.

The protectionist bill, introduced to Congress last January by Senator Vance Hartke (Dem. Ind.) and Representative James Burke (Dem. Mass.) proposes to put quantitative quota restraints on all imports, and bring U.S. corporations home to ease domestic unemployment.

CONDEMNED SUPPORT

Condemning the strong labor support the bill has received in the U.S., Mr. Beaudry said, "There are many among the labor movement . . . who seem blind to what the bill in its present form will do to their fellow workers in Canada."

"It is almost as if they would see the North American labor movement become two separate armed camps only concerned with their own narrow regional or national interests."

Mr. Beaudry credited the bill as basically sound in that it discourages multinational corporations from locating in what he termed slave wage countries.

However, he said, it should not apply to Canada where wages are comparable to U.S. wages and exports of raw materials create jobs.
